TAX PROBLEMS OF SMALL BUSINESS MAN ARE MANY

Sports Fan Sees Nothing Sporting in Steady Rise of Income Taxes

POINTS OUT FAULTS

Says Some Businessmen Do Not Earn As Much As A Good, Salaried Worker

This, is the fourth of five articles telling the tax problems and cost-of-living headaches of average and middle income Americans. Previous articles have told the informal, personal stories of a factory worker, a farmer and a city white collar worker. Today's chapter deals with the problems of a small business man.

"The Taxes We Pay"
—ARTICLE FOUR—
By Margaret Brewer
INS Staff Correspondent

ATLANTA, Ga., Mar. 6 — (INS) —Jovial B. N. Tucker, a rabid football and baseball fan, sees nothing sporting in the steady rise of income taxes.

As he sees it, the government has the game rigged, and the odds are all against the taxpayer. Something should be done, he feels, to give all an even shake.

Like many small businessmen, Tucker has moments when he wonders whether it wouldn't be wiser to go to work for someone else. He operates a real estate agency in Atlanta, specializing in homes and lots, but handling commercial property now and then. His agency employs five persons.

"Many small businessmen don't earn as much as a good salaried worker," Tucker said. He pointed out that a sharp real estate salesman often makes more than the owner of a realty company without having the owner's bookkeeping and management headaches.

Tucker says he is in the $5,000 to $7,000-a-year class himself. To get into that bracket he puts in 10 to 15 hours "or more" at work each day. But he still manages to find time for a host of extra-business activities, and the Tuckers live well.

Taxes are one of his big headaches. Not getting a regular pay check, he must estimate his income in advance and shell out to the government in regular installments.

The certified public accountant who handles Tucker's bookkeeping on a part-time basis for $50 a month

30 Soroptimists Meet; Plan for Conventions

DOYLESTOWN, Mar. 6—With 30 Soroptimists present, the Bucks County unit of that woman's club made plans Monday evening for a fashion show in April.

The regional convention at Reading, Apr. 25-27, and the national convention in Washington, D. C., were announced; also a joint session with the local Lions Club. The latter will be a dinner meeting on April 24th. A number of members will be at the Reading sessions.

Past President, Mrs. Emma P. Stover, Doylestown, and Miss Marian Gallagher, Yardley, were named delegates to the American Federation of Soroptimists in Washington, D. C., in July. Miss Gallagher is the delegate and Mrs. Stover alternate.

President Lillian Kelley reminded the Soroptimists of their project, the Pennsylvania Woman's Medical College, Philadelphia, for 1951-52.

THE TROUBLE WITH TRUMAN

As one attempts to analyze the Republican position with reference to the choice of a candidate for President this year, the proposition eventually presents itself that during the campaign the party has quite as much responsibility to tell what is wrong with President Truman as to say what is right with its own nominee.

One way of identifying the fatal weakness in the Republican national campaigns for the past four elections is to say that in none of them did the Republican standard-bearer indict the incumbent administrations for their mistakes and misdeeds.

For this reason the Democrats have been able to maintain that the Republican candidates, starting with Landon in 1936, have had nothing to say of national policy except "Me Too."

There seems to be no reason to believe that the American public will ever return to support of the Republican leadership nationally until a campaigner enters the arena who not only knows why he is against a continuation of the New-Deal-Fair-Deal-Pendergastism now in command at Washington, but is willing to indict it publicly.

This lack of criticism and denunciation was, of course, especially conspicuous in the case of Governor Dewey, whose main attractiveness to the Republican Party was his being a fearless prosecutor of gangsterism in New York, called upon to indict and punish those whom many believe to be still more evil influences arrogantly entrenched at Washington.

Going a step further in this analysis, it is important to keep in mind the main lines of weakness and impropriety in the Truman record, so that the public statements of all Republican hopefuls may be reviewed to see if they are "pulling their punches."

What's the trouble with Truman? Where are the weak spots in his record as chief executive? What are his mistakes and his improper actions?

Needless to say, no two critics would give the same answer. Needless to say also, many Democrats and many of the so-called "international" thinkers of both parties, who wish the Truman foreign policies continued regardless of who sits in the White House, will be inclined to soft-pedal the whole subject.

Nevertheless, when we stop to look at this nation's relative position, at the closing stages of the war and today, and remember that in the period of nearly seven years during which Truman

PERKASIE TAX RATE IS SET AT 12 MILLS

Borough Budget of $59,000 is Adopted at Meeting of The Council

ELECTRIC PROFIT $5,242

PERKASIE, Mar. 6 — A $59,000 municipal budget was adopted by Borough Council.

The tax rate was fixed at twelve mills, the same rate that was effective last year. The Electric Department's $190,000 budget was approved at the meeting.

Lloyd Weisel, chairman of the electric light committee, announced that 318 electric stoves and thirty electric water heaters are in operation in the borough.

The borough's five-year contract with the Pennsylvania Power and Light Company will expire next August 31. William T. Notter, superintendent of the P. P. & L. offices in Sellersville and Perkasie, is expected to attend council's April meeting to discuss the renewal of the contract.

The P. P. & L. has already applied for an increase in rates to large consumers, including Perkasie. A $5,242.41 profit was reported by the electric department in February.

Council has notified the owner of the turbine which is being stored in Perkasie at a rent of twenty-five dollars per month that unless he removes the engine, the rent will be raised to $125 per month. Plans to use the storage space for borough offices are being discussed.

WORLD NEWS IN BRIEF

A list of 174 Allied soldiers believed captured in the Korean war but not accounted for on any enemy tabulation was handed to the Communists with a request for detailed information. This was the only development at the truce talks, which continued in stalemate.

Recent events interpreted as an increasing attempt by King Paul of Greece and a "palace guard" to interfere in political and military matters have led some American quarters to fear that Greek unity and morale is endangered. General Eisenhower was warmly greeted in Salonika and Athens when he arrived to welcome Greece into NATO.

The four-nation Mediterranean maneuvers to test how a mixed task force would operate was adjudged a success by an international evaluation board.

Prime Minister Churchill won a 314-to-219 victory in the British Commons, defeating a Labor motion of no confidence in the rearming program.

Western Europe received two bits of advice. Andre Philip of France told the Economic Commission for Europe that it was a mistake to count on a depression in the United States as a cure for world economic ills. American officials have been pressing NATO nations to organize a new combined information program to acquaint their people with NATO aims.

Secretary Acheson confirmed that he had overruled the State Department Loyalty and Security Board and had cleared O. Edmund Clubb of being a security risk. At a Senate inquiry, Prof. Owen Lattimore testified that while the Administration's China policy in 1946 was "closely similar" to his own views, it was "an absurd exaggeration" to suggest that he had dictated that policy.

A Chinese Nationalist shipping firm that had been sending cargoes to Communist China shortly before the Korean conflict was represented in obtaining surplus tankers by himself and his law partner, Newbold Morris, Houston R. Wasson told a Senate group As one House committee voted to call former Internal Revenue Collector Nunan and three other New Yorkers to a closed hearing on tax scandals, the Justice Department refused to give another House group a list of cases referred to it by other Federal agencies in which prosecutions were declined.

Efforts may be made in Congress to revive the Universal Military Training bill through Senate action, although the House shelved its measure.

NO. 6 FIREMEN TO MEET

There will be a meeting of the Bristol Volunteer Fire Company, No. 6, tonight at 7.30 o'clock, in the station house, Hayes street. All members are urged to attend.

Public Service Desires To Extend Bulkhead

Notice is given that the Public Service Electric and Gas Company has applied for a Department of the Army permit to construct an extension to an existing bulkhead in Delaware River approximately 1300 feet downstream from the Burlington-Bristol Bridge.

The applicant's plans provide for a 294-foot upstream bulkhead extension in prolongation of the existing bulkhead. The upstream, outer corner of the proposed bulkhead extension would be approximately 220 feet from the edge of the present channel along Devlin Range.

Decision as to whether or not a permit will be issued on the plans submitted rest primarily upon the effect of the work on navigation. Any criticism or protest regarding the plans from the standpoint of navigation should be submitted to the District Engineer prior to Apr. 3.

TRUMAN ASKS FOR 7.9 BILLION DOLLARS

Money To Be Used in Foreign Military and Economic Aid

A 6,000-WORD MESSAGE

By Robert G. Nixon
I. N. S. Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Mar. 6—(INS)—President Truman asked Congress today for 7.9 billion dollars in foreign military and economic aid to avoid what he said might be a higher cost in money and human lives "a few years later."

In a 6,000-word message embodying his mutual security program request for fiscal 1953, the President said it is not a question of whether the outlay is "too large, but whether it is too small."

The appropriation, he declared, is "essential to advance our program for world peace and to protect . . . the United States" against Communist aggression. It is neither "charity" nor "handouts," he added.

He said the U. S. will gain "far larger returns" than if the same amount is used for American armed forces.

Mr. Truman will discuss his program in a coast-to-coast radio and television address at 10.30 p. m. (EST) tonight.

On Capitol Hill, advance notice of the request brought a cool re-

Will Collect Items For Firemen's Auction

FALLSINGTON, Mar. 6 — Falls Township Fire Company held a meeting Monday evening in the fire station with Wilmer Bachman, president, in charge.

Secretary and treasury reports were given, and Chief Charles Steiner reported seven fires during the past month.

Paul Sterling announced that on March 8th and 9th the firemen were going to collect in the Township for any articles that could be used in an auction the firemen will sponsor in the near future.

Wesley Worsman, Edward Miskel and Morris Appenzeller were appointed to make plans for a dinner.

Next meeting will be April 7th.

Trenton Clergyman Is Speaker for Clubwomen

FALLSINGTON, Mar. 6 — The Pennsbury Club entertained members of the Newtown Junior Century Club, Tuesday evening, at a meeting in Fallsington Friends Meeting House.

The Rev. Gerald Minchin, of St. James Episcopal Church, Trenton, N. J., was the guest speaker. His topic was "Frontiers of Present Day Life."

On May 17th, the Pennsbury Club will participate in a bus trip to New York, N. Y. Anyone interested may make reservations by contacting Mrs. Kenneth Traub.

Refreshments were served by Mrs. A. Sturrock and Mrs. Bartley Cook to 16 members and eight visitors.

AMBULANCE CASES

The Bristol Blood Donors transported three people home from hospitals in their ambulance yesterday. Misses Jo Ann Dugan, 8, and Kathleen Dugan, 6, were returned from the Hahnemann Hospital in Philadelphia to their home at 625 Spruce street at 9.45 a. m. Mrs. Joseph Stowe, Clymer street, was transported to her home from the Abington Hospital at one p. m.

Two Children Injured As Two Cars Collide

TREVOSE, Mar. 6 — Two children were injured slightly last evening at Philadelphia and Trevose avenues, according to Police Chief of Bensalem township, George Rentz.

Rentz said the two were injured when an automobile operated by their father, William P. Kiesel, Sr., Trevose, collided with another car at the above location.

The children, William, Jr., four, and James, eight months, were taken to Nazareth Hospital, Phila. by Fire Chief C. A. Russell. Both were treated and discharged.

The other driver was John Gallagher, Silies, police said.

CORRECTION

The salary fixed by the Bristol Borough School Board for an attendance officer was $50 per week, and not $50 per month, as reported in the Courier last evening.

Miss Elaine Reed Is Entering Nurses' Corps

Miss Reed is entering the Army Nurses Corps, as a second lieutenant. She expects to attend student dispatch training school there. She is a graduate of Bristol high school, class of 1948, and of Northeastern Hospital School of Nursing, Philadelphia, class of 1951.

WOMAN LAWYER LOSES OWN CASE

Cleo M. Smith, Line Lexington, Acts As Her Own Counsel

OTHER COURT CASES

DOYLESTOWN, Mar. 6 — A woman lawyer acting as her own counsel lost her case at a trial before the Bucks County Court. Cleo M. Smith, Line Lexington matron, was the defendant and the verdict was returned against her by the jury in the sum of $200 and interest amounting to $84, or a total of $284.

The plaintiff, in whose favor the two-day trial ended, was Dominick Schiavone, Lansdale, who was suing the matron - defendant for $200, growing out of the construction of three chimneys on her mansard roof type home. The interest was computed from March, 1945, to date.

GRAHAM READY FOR "LAST MILE HOME"

Pipe-Fitter Fireman Has Been in Mediterranean For Six Months

BARBETTA PROCESSED

After six months in the Mediterranean aboard the landing ship dock USS "White Marsh," "the longest mile to roam is still the last mile home" for Joseph S. Graham, pipefitter fireman, USN, husband of Mrs. Lillian C. Graham, of 609 Bath street. The "White Marsh" starts toward its home port of Norfolk, Va., this month after six months in the Mediterranean as part of Transport Division 24, Amphibious Force, U. S. Atlantic Fleet. This cruise has included visits to such ports as Oran, French Algeria; Naples, Italy; Athens, Greece; Golfe Juan, France, and Malta. Part of the Mediterranean schedule for the "White Marsh" has included the landing of Marine units on Sardinia and Crete for training in amphibious tactics.

The coldest part of the winter is over for James R. Cliver, seaman, USN, son of Mr. and Mrs. Harvey G. Cliver, of Otter street, as it is

$75 DAMAGE BY FIRE

CROYDON, Mar. 6—Fire, due to a defective oil burner, caused damage estimated at $75 at the home of George Geiger, 127 Neshaminy road, this morning at 7.15. Croydon Fire Co. responded to the call. A hole was burned through the bathroom floor.

LATEST NEWS BULLETINS

Down One Mig and Damage Another

Seoul—American pilots, outnumbered more than three to one, today shot down one MIG-15 jet and damaged another in an air battle that ranged as far south as the North Korean capital of Pyongyang. The dogfight pitted six American Sabrejets against 22 MIGs and the American "kill" brought to six the number of definitely knocked-out MIGs in the past two days. Other action was highlighted by long range duels between Communist and Allied guns ashore and aboard ship. On the ground, Communist gunners and mortarmen kept up a steady pounding of Allied positions along a small stretch of the front.

CLAIMS PRESENT BUCKS SITUATION WAS INEVITABLE

"In the Path of Two Giant Steamrollers, One From N. Y., One from Phila."

SAYS DR. BREESE

Addresses Poorly-Attended Meeting in Falls Township

By Staff Reporter

FALLSINGTON, Mar. 6 — A very large percentage of the residents of Falls township and nearby areas missed out on a "good thing", as Dr. Gerald Breese, director of the Bureau of Urban Research of Princeton (N. J.) University, addressed a handful of local residents and members of the Falls Township Civic Association last evening in the Free Library. Dr. Breese discussed what is happening in lower Bucks County and especially in Falls township.

Breese is a member of the Joint Urban Research Bureau, sponsored by Princeton University and the University of Pennsylvania, Phila., which is conducting an investigation entitled "Development of Guides for Urbanization in Metropolitan Regions Affected by the Building of Large Industrial Plants."

Dr. Breese stated: "There is only one project of this nature that is larger in the United States. That is the Savanah River area where the hydrogen bomb site is being constructed. It is bigger but it is also different. Our bureau is at present studying that project also. What we are trying to do is to discover what is happening. There has been some feeling expressed in previous meetings that the cause of all of the upheaval is due to the coming of the steel plant. If you take the time to examine the situation you would see that this situation was inevitable, and that small plants have been creeping up on us for years. It is impossible that Bucks County could have stayed as it was in 1950. Bucks County is in the path of two giant steamrollers, one from New York city and the other from Phila. Falls township is right in the middle of this advance. I heard someone remark the other day that '19th century Bucks County is having its front door kicked in by 20th

23 Bensalem Pupils Attend Cooking Class

An audience of 200, predominantly women and including 23 girls of the ninth grade home economics class, Bensalem township high school, attended the second of three cooking school sessions here yesterday. The sessions are offered by the Marie Gifford Cooking School, and are being held in the Grand Theatre. The final class will be held this afternoon.

Miss Gifford, home economist for the eastern division of Armour and Co., prepared six tempting dishes that had been given a new twist to enhance their appeal. She prepared Hawaiian chicken, apple pie with a cheese crust, cheese "stix," golden-glow beef pie, party ham loaf tray, fresh fruit and sausage tray, and a quick "serve your own" tray of sandwich spreads served in green pepper shells. Miss Gifford was halted several times by spontaneous applause for her cooking masterpieces.

The groceries used in preparing the dishes came from the three Safe Food Markets in this area, which firm is sponsoring the school along with Woler's Hardware store, the Philco dealer in this area. Philco appilances—a range, refrigerator and deepfreeze, are used. Fifty bags of groceries were given as door prizes. The groceries were purchased in Safe Food Markets and donated by the Bond Bread Co.

Miss Helen Conboy, Eddington, was awarded the apple pie as a door prize. Mrs. Martha Tyson, 731 Second avenue, Croydon, won the beef pie. Miss Polly Gillis, Glen Ashton Farms, Bensalem township, was given the stuffed peppers; while the chicken was taken home by Miss Elizabeth Uslin, of Eddington. Mrs. Harold Kleppinger, 1115 Radcliffe street, was given the party tray.

BAD ECONOMIC LAW

Forces for and against legalized price fixing vendors of certain commodities are engaged in a merry battle at Washington. The issue is whether Congress should act to make the so-called fair trade laws of 45 states enforceable against retailers who refuse to sign contracts for the sale or resale of trade-marked goods at prices set by the manufacturers or distributors.

Until the Supreme Court of the United States spoke last May, a provision of the state laws enabled vendors to compel adherence to their fixed sale prices by all retailers whether or not they had signed contracts.

The court ruled that this exceeded the intent of Congress in amending the anti-trust laws so the state laws would not be in contravention of interstate commerce prohibitions—that unless a retailer signed a contract he was free to sell goods he obtained in interstate commerce at whatever prices he desired.

In the move to circumvent this decision through federal legislation there is evidence of high pressure tactics. An enabling House bill, referred to the Judiciary Committee, was followed by another which the "fair traders" succeeded in having referred to the Commerce Committee, regarded by them as more favorable to their aims. This committee gave prompt approval, while the Judiciary Committee hearings were still in progress.

Weighing all the arguments, there is no evading the conclusion that making a price maintenance contract between a manufacturer and one or more retailers binding on all retailers cannot be sustained as sound economics.

WHAT! NO TELEVISION?

There are still cowboys in the West. Americans are eating more meat than ever, and nobody has invented a machine that herds cows, rounds up steers and does the ranch chores. The cowboy has less trouble with Indians and rustlers and other outlaws than his counterpart of the old West, but his life hasn't changed much.

The cowboy's is still a lonely job, held down by a laconic breed of individualists. There are still wide-open spaces for hombres who don't want to be fenced in. And some of them, no doubt, still sing in the saddle.

But something new has been added—or is about to be. Somebody has just patented a saddle radio. It has tuning knobs on the pommel, loop antennas in the saddle-bags and batteries under the seat. So the next time you ride down the old Chisholm Trial on a starry night, don't be surprised if the voice you hear coming from a lone vaquero sounds like Gene Autry's or Roy Rogers'. Maybe it will be.

Army auditor admits there was an air base waste of $50,000,000 in North Africa. In this case it cannot be claimed that we owe it to ourselves.

for all the crew members of the light cruiser USS "Worcester."

The "Worcester," along with other ships of the Atlantic Fleet, recently completed minor cold weather exercises off the southern tip of Greenland.

Acting as an "enemy" raider, the "Worcester's" job was the prevention of the resupplying of an "enemy" base located on Greenland.

Conducted for the purpose of testing cold weather equipment and the familiarization of crewmen to frigid climatic conditions, the exercises began Jan. 21.

FORT MEADE, Md., Mar. 6—Pvt. Eugene Barbetta, 23, son of Mrs. Josephine Barbetta, 434 Jefferson avenue, Bristol, Pa., has completed processing at the 2053d Reception Center here and is assigned to the 71st Engineer Aviation Battalion, Fort Huachuca, Ariz., for basic training.

Undergoing recruit training at the U. S. Naval Training Center, Bainbridge, Md., is Harry B. Cross, seaman recruit, USN, son of Mr. and Mrs. William S. Cross, of 66 Schumacher drive.

Cross, who attended Bristol township high school, entered the naval service Feb. 5, 1952.

This initial training includes instruction in such fields as seamanship, fire-fighting, gunnery, signaling, and other courses designed to make the recruit well-versed in every phase of Navy life. Upon completion of their 11-week training period at the recently re-activated training center, graduates are assigned to duty stations with the Fleet or at Navy shore stations, or are sent to service schools for advanced technical training.

THREE ENLIST

A trio of young men from this section have enlisted in the U. S. Air Corps, and reported today at Sampson Air Force Base, N. Y., for a training period. The group includes: Richard Baker, son of Mr. and Mrs. Erwin Baker, Tullytown; Joseph Termyna, Jr., son of Joseph Termyna, Sr., Tulltyown; and Joseph Paul, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Paul, 740 Corson street.

MARRIAGE LICENSES

Horace M. Bauman, of Quakertown, RD 2, and Anna M. Simitz, of Spinnerstown.

Richard Bryam, and Dolores Sclight, both of Philadelphia.

John Strobel, and Mary McKay, both of Philadelphia.

Franklin McCleary, of Croydon, and Jane Berthel, of 1002 Fourth avenue, Croydon.

Howard J. Umstetter, and Margaret C. Fincham, both of Philadelphia.

Gets Dad's Award

MAJ. GEN. William B. Kean, commanding general of the 3rd Army Corps, pins a Silver Star Medal on Larry Westin, 5, at the boy's home in San Diego. The award was presented posthumously to Capt. S. E. Westin, Larry's father, who was killed in Korea. (International) century industry', which is a fair analysis of the situation."

Dr. Breese went on to explain that the purpose of the research investigation was to discover only what is happening, not to tell people what they should do. "It is hoped," he added, "That we will be able to learn lessons for future developments. It would be inconsistent for us to make suggestions and thus attempt to control what is happening when the study is about what does happen."

Dr. Breese spoke at great length about the lack of data available to the bureau. There were no maps, statistics, or readily available information on the county, he stated. "We have compiled a gigantic amount of statistics and have drawn our own maps. All of the information that we have is available to the public for their use in better understanding the problem and planning for it. Everything in Bucks County will have to be increased in size. The traffic, housing and school problems are huge, but there is no reason why they cannot be overcome by swift planning measures now. Falls township is especially fortunate to have the tax base of the U. S. Steel plant. The problem is one of great urgency and planning is a necessity."

Dr. Breese threw open the floor to questions following his talk, and asked John T. Mladjen, Langhorne, to aid him in answering them. Dr. Breese was asked if he had forgotten the Bucks County Planning Commission, when he stated that there was little or no planning being done. Dr. Breese answered, "The Bucks County Planning Commission has a responsibility to the entire county. They can never meet all of the problems swiftly enough. There must laways be local thought and guidance. It is inevitable that what is done in one community is going to affect another in this area. What type of overall government will evolve when there are solid adjoining communities from Morrisville to the Phila. city line? These things must be anticipated and planned for. Independent, uncoordinated planning is not as efficient or effettive as combined planning. There are several hundred millions of dollars worth of real estate that should be properly governed. Ask yourselves what type of community you want. Where do you, the citizens, want the traffic to be? I know that many of your leading citizens are leaving the area. It is possible to leave now at a profit, but with a real understanding of the problem it can be solved. There is a great need for zoning."

Mr. Mladjen stated that, "there is no trouble in getting zoning passed. If your local government will not support it, go and see Mr. Levitt and Mr. Galbreath. They have spent a lot of money in this arta. Ask them what assurance they have that there won't be a glue factory built across the street from their homes? They will sign a petition for you. The Steel Company wants zoning of a type also. Correct zoning would save them money, if it made sure that there were good highways for their workers and schools for the workers children. Never underestimate the effect of an organized feeling on the part of citizens."

Mr. Mladjen continued "Never let yourself get into the feeling that tomorrow will do and that next month won't hurt. Get the facts, make your position clear, and support them with effective organizations. Form a planning group and pass zoning ordinances and you will have made a good start in solving the problem."

Prior to Dr. Breese's talk the Falls Township Civic Assoc. held a short business meeting.

CHEESE FACTS

NEW YORK—(INS)—Americans are becoming a nation of cheese-eaters. Consumption in the U. S. has almost doubled in the past three decades. Last year the per capita ration was more than seven pounds. The United States now produces a third of the world's cheese, and a greater variety—300 types—than any other country.

hygiene programs, in promoting such projects and in seeing that they were properly administered. Mr. Morse has also served for several years as a consultant to the Atomic Energy Commission's Argonne National Laboratory.

A native of Boston, Mass., Mr. Morse received a B. S. Degree in mechanical engineering from Tufts College and a Masters Degree from Harvard University, majoring in industrial hygiene in the School of Public Health. During his wide experience in both the technical and administrative phases of industrial hygiene, Mr. Morse has worked with several government agencies, including the U. S. Department of Labor, where he prepared safety and health codes under the NRA in 1934 and 1935. Upon leaving Washington, he joined the U. S. Public Health Service and was assigned as Assistant Regional Director in the Pacific Coast Area.

Mr. Morse is on the faculty of the University of Illinois School of Medicine and has taught the principles of industrial hygiene and safety to medical students, safety engineers and professional groups. He is also the author of several papers dealing with industrial hygiene and air pollution programs.

BAD ECONOMIC LAW

Forces for and against legalized price fixing vendors of certain commodities are engaged in a merry battle at Washington. The issue is whether Congress should act to make the so-called fair trade laws of 45 states enforceable against retailers who refuse to sign contracts for the sale or resale of trade-marked goods at prices set by the manufacturers or distributors.

Until the Supreme Court of the United States spoke last May, a provision of the state laws enabled vendors to compel adherence to their fixed sale prices by all retailers whether or not they had signed contracts.

The court ruled that this exceeded the intent of Congress in amending the anti-trust laws so the state laws would not be in contravention of interstate commerce prohibitions—that unless a retailer signed a contract he was free to sell goods he obtained in interstate commerce at whatever prices he desired.

In the move to circumvent this decision through federal legislation there is evidence of high pressure tactics. An enabling House bill, referred to the Judiciary Committee, was followed by another which the "fair traders" succeeded in having referred to the Commerce Committee, regarded by them as more favorable to their aims. This committee gave prompt approval, while the Judiciary Committee hearings were still in progress.

Weighing all the arguments, there is no evading the conclusion that making a price maintenance contract between a manufacturer and one or more retailers binding on all retailers cannot be sustained as sound economics.

WHAT! NO TELEVISION?

There are still cowboys in the West. Americans are eating more meat than ever, and nobody has invented a machine that herds cows, rounds up steers and does the ranch chores. The cowboy has less trouble with Indians and rustlers and other outlaws than his counterpart of the old West, but his life hasn't changed much.

The cowboy's is still a lonely job, held down by a laconic breed of individualists. There are still wide-open spaces for hombres who don't want to be fenced in. And some of them, no doubt, still sing in the saddle.

But something new has been added—or is about to be. Somebody has just patented a saddle radio. It has tuning knobs on the pommel, loop antennas in the saddle-bags and batteries under the seat. So the next time you ride down the old Chisholm Trial on a starry night, don't be surprised if the voice you hear coming from a lone vaquero sounds like Gene Autry's or Roy Rogers'. Maybe it will be.

Army auditor admits there was an air base waste of $50,000,000 in North Africa. In this case it cannot be claimed that we owe it to ourselves.

CORNWELLS HEIGHTS

Mrs. Andrew Waggoner and son, Rudolph, of Belton, Texas, are visiting Mr. and Mrs. Otto Frolich for several weeks.

NEWPORTVILLE

Visitors for five days last week at the home of Mr. and Mrs. John Cameron were their son-in-law and daughter, Major and Mrs. Howard E. Thompson, Arlington, Va.

TULLYTOWN

Lewis Vanderslice was removed to Naval Hospital, Philadelphia, where he is a patient under observation.

Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Hamner and daughter Patricia have moved from a Silvi property on Main street to a house, also on Main street, vacated by Mr. and Mrs. Humbert Durante.

HULMEVILLE

A covered dish supper is scheduled for 6.30 Monday evening for members of the Ladies Auxiliary in William Penn Fire Co. station. The committee in charge will provide dessert. A St. Patrick party will follow the meeting.

Teachers of Grace Episcopal Church School met Monday evening in the parish house. The group decided to join the Fellowship Commission and the Fellowship House, Philadelphia, these being laboratories for racial, religious and nationality understanding. Lenten mite boxes were distributed, the mission emphasis this year being on Brazil. From the Sunday School treasury a sum will be used to match that received through the mite boxes, said boxes to be returned at Easter time. Alfred Holden, Newportville, superintendent, presided, with Raymond Marshall, Croydon, serving as secretary. On Sunday, Phyllis Blessing, a member of the Church School, received her 12th year bar, set with her birthstone. This is a reward for 12 years perfect attendance. Presentation was made by Richard Dunlap.

ANDALUSIA

On Feb. 29th, Post 9198 held its first boys' club meeting, with 25 boys, aged 10-16 years, attending. This meeting was held in the Post home, and until weather permits outdoor practice periods, there will be meetings held every Friday evening at 7.30. All boys interested in sports who have not registered may do so by attending the next athletic meeting, March 7th, in the Post home. Any parent wishing to attend these meetings will be welcome.

Athletic Director Thomas Adams presided, with assistance of George Ellis, Edward and Lewis McNichole, Frank Wallace and E. Sassoch. On March 20th, the boys club will sponsor a social night at the Post home. This affair is open to the public. There will be cards and other forms of entertainment, admission being free.

RECIPES

Swiss Steak in Full Dress

Most of us like familiar foods dressed up a bit for a special treat. For instance, you can give the family's favorite Swiss steak a gala touch this easy way: Pound flour into a chuck or round steak with the edge of a saucer or meat pounder. Then brown thoroughly in a little hot fat. Season with salt and pepper and a dash of garlic salt. Add one cup of tomato juice, cover, and cook over low heat until tender, about two hours. Half an hour before the end of the cooking time, top the meat with a few onion slices. Sprinkle with salt. In a separate pan, brown in butter or margerine some sliced fresh or canned mushrooms. Remove the steak from the pan and carve it into individual servings in the kitchen. To serve, top each piece of meat with a few slices of onion and some of the hot, fried mushrooms.

The first oil pipe line was of wood construction, five miles long, and had a capacity of 800 barrels daily.

NOTICE TO CONTRACTORS

Notice is hereby given that the Health and Sanitation Committee of the Borough of Bristol, at a meeting thereof to be held at the Borough Hall, Bristol, Bucks County, Penna. on Thursday, May 1, 1952, at 8:00 o'clock P. M. E. D. S. T., will receive and publicly open bids or proposals for construction and installation complete, of IMPROVEMENTS AND EXTENSIONS TO THE SEWAGE TREATMENT PLANT, including the furnishing of all labor and materials, in accordance with Specifications dated March, 1949, heretofore approved by the Council and on file at the Borough Secretary's office.

Each bid or proposal must be in the form provided by the Borough Council, must be enclosed in a sealed envelope and addressed "To the Chairman and Members of the Health and Sanitation Committee of the Borough of Bristol, Borough Hall, Bristol, Penna." and must be marked on the outside with the words "Bid for Improvement and Extensions to the Sewage Treatment Plant" or other words indicating the enclosure of such bid, and must be accompanied by a certified check on an incorporated bank or trust company drawn to the order of "Treasurer of the Borough of Bristol, Penna." or a Surety Company's Bid bond in the amount of five (5%) per centum of the bid rendered.

No bidder may withdraw his bid or proposal within twenty (20) days after the actual date of the opening thereof.

The checks or Bid bonds of unsuccessful bidders will be returned within twenty-five (25) days after bids are opened. The checks or Bid bonds of the successful bidders to whom Contracts are awarded will be held to secure the Borough against any loss that may be sustained by it in the event that proper contract and bond should not be executed in accordance with the Specifications.

Information may be obtained and copies of drawings, Specifications and Form for Proposal may be examined at the office of the Borough Secretary, Borough Hall, Bristol, Penna. and in the office of the Engineer. Copies of drawings, Specifications ,instructions to bidders, Form for Proposal and full information relative to the work, may be obtained at the office of William H. Boardman, Engineer, 426 Walnut Street, Philadelphia 6, Penna. upon payment of Twenty-five ($25.00) Dollars deposit; Fifteen ($15.00) Dollars to be refunded upon return of the drawings and specifications in good condition within one (1) week after award of contract. An allotment has been obtained for this work from National Production Authority.

The Borough Council reserves the right to accept any bid; reject all bids; to reject any bid or bids not complying with this notice and the drawings and specifications; and to waive any informalities in any bids or proposals if deemed advantageous to the Borough Council to do so.

By order of the Borough Council,
AGNES F. COLES
Secretary
Bristol, Penna.

SUNDAY DINNER Suggestions

MEATLESS meals come into their own during the Lenten season. And thanks to such protein providers as cheese, eggs and fish, there's no sacrifice in good, nutritious eating. All three of these versatile foods go together well in this tuna loaf recommended by the A & P Service for Homemakers.

Melt two tablespoons of butter or margarine in a saucepan over low heat. Add two tablespoons flour, one teaspoon salt and one-fourth teaspoon pepper and mix well. Add one cup milk gradually and cook, stirring constantly, until sauce becomes thick, smooth and shiny. Empty contents of one seven-ounce can tuna fish into bowl and flake with a fork. Add one tablespoon lemon juice, one and one-half cups soft bread crumbs, one-half cup finely chopped celery, one-fourth cup chopped pimiento, two tablespoons finely chopped onion and one egg, slightly beaten. Stir white sauce into fish mixture and place in well greased loaf pan. Bake in moderate oven (350 degrees F.) until brown and set, about 45 minutes. Makes six servings.

Serve with a tangy topping supplied by this cheese sauce version: Melt two tablespoons butter or margarine over low heat. Add two tablespoons flour, one-half teaspoon salt and one-eighth teaspoon pepper and blend well. Gradually add one cup milk and cook, stirring constantly until sauce thickens. Stir in one-third cup grated American cheese and one-eighth teaspoon cayenne pepper. Continue cooking at low temperature until cheese melts. Yield, one cup of sauce.

Play, Written by A Club Member Will Be Staged

A play entitled "Bread," written by Mrs. George E. Boswell, will be featured at a meeting of The Travel Club in the club home, tomorrow afternoon. Mrs. Boswell is chairman of the division of religion, under the American home department. This department's committee, headed by Mrs. Ernest Lawrence, Jr., will provide an exhibit of illustrative materials covering several phases of home-making.

Several non-members will participate in the program of the day. Mrs. Ralph Hart will provide vocal numbers, her accompanist being Mrs. Homer Hobbs. Three Bristol high school girls, under direction of Arthur Hornberger, of Bristol high school faculty, will present musical numbers. These youthful musicians are: MayBeth Brown, flutist; Janet Wetherill, clarinetist; Miss Eleanor Scheetz, pianist.

Hostesses for the day are Mrs. Harry T. Neher and Mrs. H. Wesley Spencer.

What is Love? (Read I Corinthians 13)

Here the Apostle Paul does not attempt to make a clear-cut, one sentence definition of Love. He chooses to define Love in a series of phrases descriptive of its action. Love is patient; not envious; not boastful or proud; even Tempered; given to give the benefit of the doubt; happy at doing good, not wrong; takes unkindness from people gracefully and graciously; trusts; and hangs on couragiously when life gets hard.

The life of love holds within itself all that we admire in others and for ourselves seek. If you want it, you may have it by praying to God and following His Guidance.

Named Member of Jersey Cattle Club

Ralph O. Samuel, Ivyland, has been named a member of The American Jersey Cattle Club. He is a local breeder of registered Jersey cattle.

The recent application of Samuel for membership was approved by the Club's Board of Directors at their last meeting. Requirements for membership specify that an applicant must be an owner of Jersey cattle and be a careful and reliable breeder. His application was endorsed by at least five members of the Club. His membership gives him the privilege of voting in the organization's affairs. He is also entitled to special membership fees when transacting business with it.

The American Jersey Cattle Club is America's oldest dairy breed registry organization. It was organized in 1868 and ever since has preserved the records and improved and promoted the Jersey breed. Its national headquarters is in Columbus, Ohio.

Morrisville Requests More Money for Service

LOWER MAKEFIELD, Mar. 6 — Last evening when Lower Makefield township supervisors met, representatives of Morrisville Borough Council asked the supervisors to increase appropriations for fire protection by $500.

Councilman Neal Nolan told the Makefield officials that Morrisville, which supplies the protection, needed new equipment and wanted Makefield to increase the appropriation from $500 to $1000. Lower Makefield maintains no fire-fighting equipment.

Harry S. Hoffman, Makefield secretary, said the supervisors would consider the request. The supervisors also agreed to consider an offer by William Black, of Yardley, to rent a building to the township for storage space and offices.

RECIPES

POPULAR PORK SAUSAGE STARS IN TASTY DISHES

Pork sausage is everyone's friend. It gets around to breakfast, lunch and dinner and the whole family's always glad to see it coming.

A good marketing tip is to include pork sausage links or patties regularly on your shopping list. As these items are perishable, they should be bought in amounts suitable for your family's needs, then used promptly within a few days.

It's always fun to find a new way to serve an old favorite. Here's a recipe for a novel sausage pie, open-face style, which is a crackerjack for dinner or for a special Sunday night supper.

Sausage Open-Face Pie

Crust

1 cup sifted flour
1½ teaspoons baking powder
½ teaspoon salt
3 tablespoons lard
⅓ cup milk

Filling

¾ pound pork sausage links
1 No. 2 can tomatoes
½ clove garlic
¼ teaspoon basil or thyme
1 cup grated cheese

To make crust, sift baking powder and salt with flour. Cut in lard until mixture resembles corn meal; add milk. Knead dough lightly, then roll out on a lightly floured board to a diameter of 10 inches. Place in a 9-inch pie pan, crimping edges.

Cook sausage links until well browned. Add minced garlic and herbs to well drained tomatoes (save tomato juice for soup or gelatin salad). Spread tomatoes in crust, sprinkle with cheese and top with sausage links arranged spoke fashion. Bake at 450 degrees F. for about 15 minutes. Let stand 15 minutes before cutting. 4 to 5 servings.

Basic Pork Sausage Cookery

An important factor in preparing pork sausage links is to cook them thoroughly without losing their fine-flavored juices. Do not prick the skins before cooking. To insure thorough cooking, add ¼ cup of water to the links in a cold skillet. Cover, heat and let the sausage steam 5 to 6 minutes to cook through. Then uncover, pour off the liquid and brown slowly.

Sausage Links for a Crowd

A handy way to cook a quantity of sausage links for a large family or a party is to bake them. Place links in a pan without a rack. This allows the sausage to brown in the fat. Bake at 400 degrees F. 20 to 25 minutes for regular size links. Turn to brown the links evenly.

Bulk pork sausage makes a good spaghetti sauce — an interesting change from the usual sauce made with ground beef:

Sausage-Spaghetti Sauce

1 pound bulk pork sausage
1, 4-oz. can mushrooms
½ clove garlic, minced
1 medium onion, chopped
Flour, salt, pepper
3 cups tomato juice
1 tablespoon Worcestershire sauce
7 or 8 ounces spaghetti

Crumble and brown pork sausage in skillet. Push to one side and remove all but 2 tablespoons fat from skillet. In this brown mushrooms; add onion and garlic. Blend in 3 tablespoons flour, add tomato juice and cook until thick. Add Worcestershire sauce, ¾ teaspoon salt and ⅛ teaspoon pepper. Simmer half an hour. In the meantime, cook spaghetti in 3 quarts boiling salted water. When tender, drain, and serve topped with the meat sauce.

How To Choose Hats And Hairdo

An attractive beret is Movie Star Nancy Olsen's choice for casual wear. The style gives length to her slightly round face.

By HELEN FOLLETT

HAIRDO and hat! Watch out for that combination if you would march in the style and beauty parade. It has much to do with enhancing the features or throwing them out of form. It may be that a woman cannot do much to improve her figure after a certain age, but she can make her top-story chic and attractive.

There are certain hairdos for certain faces. The girl with the low forehead should not wear bangs, but sweep her tresses upward. The center parting increases the width of a full face. Hair curved over the ears lessens facial width. A large, loose, flowing hairdo makes the small face look smaller.

Medium Brim

The round faced woman usually looks her prettiest in hats with medium-sized brims. The shorty should not wear wide brims, because they seem to detract from height. The tall woman can wear such hats with becomingness and style.

Simplicity is the chief characteristic of smart millinery. Too much fluff and feathers direct the eye "right there" away from the wearer's face. A woman should be more interesting than any detail of her attire.

Flaring Hat

The upward, flaring hat, so popular now, should never be worn by a woman who has a receding chin because it will give accent to this defect. The rule holds good for the girl whose nose is larger than it should be according to beauty Hoyle.

A tiny hat on a woman who has acquired too much weight blots her out of the loveliness picture. By avoiding tabloid lids she avoids the silhouette that tapers upward to an inadequate little bonnet.

The large floppy hat is designed for the youthful face. For the woman whose pulchritude petals have fallen it is a mistake. It calls attention to the marks of Time's cruel fingers. If some women didn't try to look so young, they would not look so old.

When selecting a hat, don't hurry. Regard it from all angles. Unless it flatters you, pass it by and continue on the shopping rounds.

KNOW YOUR STATE

Prepared for The Courier by the State Planning Board, Department of Commerce.

Speed On Our Highways

One principal cause of America's high record of deaths from traffic accidents is the fact that few drivers are aware of what a velocity of 50 miles an hour means in destructive force. People crowd into a circus tent to be thrilled by the performance of a tight-rope walker or an acrobat whose feats are performed at perhaps 75 feet above the level of the ground. Few people, however, appreciate the fact that a man or woman driving a car along the highway at the legal speed of 50 miles an hour is moving at a velocity which is equivalent to a free fall of 83 feet. Even more disturbing is the fact that the collision of two cars, each moving at a rate of 50 miles an hour in opposite directions, releases a force equivalent to that which the drivers would experience if their cars went over the edge of a cliff and fell 330 feet. It is no wonder, therefore, that cars which have been in collisions sometimes show such appalling effects of the forces which have been released by their momentum. That people sometimes survive such impacts is, of course, due to the fact that the collision does not occur instantly; the shell or frame of a car absorbs part of the force of the collision and allows a fraction of a second for the motion to be checked, much as happens when a man falls off a cliff into the top of a tree, or out of a window into a load of cardboard boxes. One cannot however, normally anticipate such good luck.

People who would, under no conceivable circumstance, walk out on a narrow plank over the edge of a 300-foot precipice, or crawl out on the ledge of a building that far above the street level, often drive with great nonchalance past opposing traffic where the margin of safety between their car and others moving in an opposite direction, or between their fender and obstructions along the highway is often less than a foot of clearance.

However startling these figures may appear, they become relatively insignificant, the State Planning Board of the Department of Commerce points out, when one considers the effect of a collision at 70 miles an hour. Hitting a solid object at 70 miles an hour is equivalent to the effect of a fall of 160 feet. The collision of two cars moving in opposite directions at 70 miles an hour is equivalent to a fall from the roof of a 50-story building—a distance of one-eighth of a mile. A little consideration of these facts, based on the laws of motion might convince some of our drivers that the deceptive ease with which a car can accelerate to 50 or 70 miles an hour conceals a very grave danger which is not any less because of the fact that motorists have become accustomed to driving at high speed.

Temperature Shows Rise Over February of 1951

A comparison of weather conditions for the month of February, 1951, with those of last month, show a rise of 2.9 degrees in the average temperature for the month. Precipitation last month was less than half of that for the same month last year.

The average temperature last month was 38.9, while that for February a year ago was 36. Precipitation during the one month a year ago was 4.59 inches, and for last month 2.04 inches.

The temperature range last month was 18 to 56. There were 12 clear days; 10, partly cloudy; seven, cloudy; and seven on which precipitation measured .01 or more.

EXPECT 2 CLOSE GAMES TONIGHT ON GOODWILL FLOOR

Two close games are expected in the Bristol Basketball League tonight on the Goodwill Hose Company court. In the first tilt, the Hibernians will play Lucisano Brothers, of Tullytown, starting at 7.30 o'clock. In the second encounter, Rohm & Haas meets Fifth Ward Sporting Club.

The Hibernians and Rohm & Haas are one-half game out of first place and need triumphs to deadlock the Cornwells Boys Club for the topnotch position.

Lucisano can assure itself of a tie for third place with a victory over Peter Harkins' team. The Tullytown lads are in fourth position with a 6 and 5 record.

Fifth Ward is one-half game behind the Profy team which is in fifth place. The latter position is the final playoff spot so the Warders will be seeking to tie for that position with a triumph over the Rohm & Haas team.

HIGH SCHOOL ENDS SEASON WITH VICTORY

Bristol High closed its regular season last night with a 54-51 win over the Pennsylvania School for Deaf on the local court. The Warriors will play Central Bucks (Doylestown) Saturday night at Norristown in a Class A P. I. A. A. tournament game.

A last quarter rally gave the Warriors the triumph over the Mt. Airy boys. Bristol took a 20-11 lead in the first quarter but in the second period, Coach Ben Watson used his reserves and PSD scored 16 points while holding the localites to 3. PSD had the half-time lead at 27-23.

At the start of the third quarter, the five starting players were back in action but PSD was still clicking and managed to hold on to the lead until midway in the final quarter. Bristol was trailing by two points, 46-44, when Raul Stevens missed a set shot but Harold Loud followed the shot and dumped in a fielder to knot the count.

Andy Accardi scored under the net to give Bristol the lead and Bob Strobele converted a foul to increase the edge to three points. Lou Parrish cut it to one with a PSD score but Strobele and Accardi followed with double-deckers to clinch the tilt for the Warriors.

Accardi and Strobele paced the local scorers with 20 and 16 points, respectively. For the losing team, Andriano Mariri and Parrish had 13 points each.

The Bristol Junior Varsity team had an easy time in racking up a 63-29 victory over the PSD Jayvees. The Bristol boys had the edge from the start.

Dick Crosby was high for Coach Ben Watson's team with Emig scoring 8 points for the PSD lads.

Woman Lawyer Loses Own Case

presided at the trial which began Monday, refused to allow the jury to compute the interest at compound rates and fixed it at $85. The compounded interest was fixed at $100, which made the original verdict $300.

A jury, which deliberated until 6.15 Monday evening, returned a verdict of $336.40 in favor of the plaintiff, William J. Weaver, Sand Brook, N J., who was suing Cline Kissell, Neshaminy, for that amount of damages, following a two-car collision Oct. 23, 1950, at Bristol road and Route 202, Chalfont.

President Judge Hiram H. Keller allowed an assessment of damages for $597.78 in favor of the plaintiff, George W. Kropf, 79 West Oakland ave., this place, and against the defendant, Stanley Newkirk, Newtown, RD 1, who had made no appearance in the case until he walked into court yesterday.

When the trial began, President Judge directed Court Crier Clarence K. Danenhower to summon the defendant three times which he did. The defendant, answering the verbal summons, appeared but could give no satisfactory reason for not answering any letters written to him or obtaining any lawyer to represent him or his case.

Counsel for the plaintiff, C. B. Ermentrout, informed the Court that judgment had been entered against the defendant and the case continued for assessment of damages. The $597.78 damage claim grew out of a two-car collision Sept. 19, 1950, in Langhorne.

The jury, which did not leave the jury box, was composed of the following: Beatrice D. Nyce, Telford, forewoman; Harold P. Kling, Croydon; John C. Beidler, Quakertown; Samuel Faunce, Andalusia; Emma M. Fly, Chalfont; Samuel S. Daugherty, Newtown; Ralph G. Kennedy, Bristol; Thomas J. Emsley, Morrisville; Daniel Coll, Sellersville; Marian Strouse, Quakertown; James W. Orr, Perkasie, and Dorothy F. Damrosch, Doylestown.

President Judge Keller is presiding at the trial of William F. Sweigart, of the Bux-Mont Neon Sign Company, who is suing Joseph Elnitski, of the Warington Diner and Motor Court, Neshaminy. The defendant has filed a counter-claim, involving four transformers.

The trial grows out of the erection of a double-faced neon sign during October, 1950, at the defendant's business place.

The jury contains William G. Taylor, Upper Black Eddy, foreman Victor L. Lennon, Churchville; Harry R. Paulsworth, Croydon; Roy C. Munsell, Eureka; Aaron L. Swartz, Telford; Donald S. Saurman, Newtown; Anna H. Shivo, Ottsville; Raymond O. Jackson, Bristol; Antonette M. Cianfaro, Bristol; Ben Haskey, Jr., Chalfont, RD; Harry Muelhausen, Yardley, and William A. McAuley, Yardley.

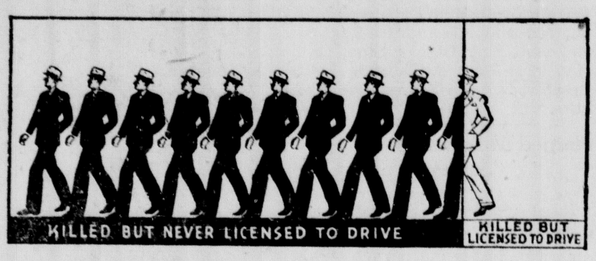

Judge Satterthwaite is presiding at the trial of Harriet N. Rogers, Wilmington, Del., versus William H. States, Jr., Croydon, growing out of an action in assumpsit.

The jury is comprised of Robert S. Miller, Sellersville, RD; William E. Kiesele, Quakertown; Abram Lewis, Lacey Park; Marian A. Taylor, Newtown; Charles W. Bilger, Croydon, RD; June H. Heaton, Lacey Park; Emily M. Clymer, Quakertown, RD; Abraham M. Nyce, Telford, RD; Sarah B. Ott, Croydon, RD; John Hayman, Langhorne, RD 3; Florence Lapham, Lacey Park, and George E. Waldeman, Feasterville.

A panel of 20 jurors was chosen to report this morning for the trial of Winfield J. Scott, Jr., versus Eva C. Gross, growing out of an action in tresspass.

President Judge Keller excused the rest of the panel because the cases are either continued or settled.

Sportsmanlike DRIVING

WALK RIGHT AND LIVE

The non-driver has a bad pedestrian record!

Nine out of ten adult pedestrians killed in motor accidents do not drive automobiles. They don't know what cars and drivers cannot do. So they step right out into danger.

Non-drivers do not know how far an automobile goes before it can possibly be stopped—even at moderate speeds, says the AAA driver training book, "Sportsmanlike Driving." They do not realize that it takes time to change the direction of a car. They do not know how many different things tease the driver's attention.

Connecticut made a study of 1,031 traffic deaths of pedestrians over 15 years of age and found that 95% had never been licensed to drive.

If you do not drive a car, be extra-careful how you walk. Look in both directions before you step off the curb. Do not jaywalk. Obey all traffic regulations. Safe walking requires sportsmanship of both driver and pedestrian. Walk right and live!

U. S. Steel Withdraws Hospital Plans

survey indicates the need for a 500-bed hospital here. This area is in a defense zone created under Public Law No. 139. It is reported should an appropriation for necessary health facilities be granted by Congress, The Lower Bucks County Hospital is in favored position to receive funds for additional beds to those for which plans are now being prepared. It is possible that the entire expansion cost to the 500-bed unit could be absorbed by the Government. This possibility is being very closely watched and in constant close touch by those properly authorized within the hospital organization.

"Application of the United States Steel Company for a 50-bed hospital at the Fairless Plant has been withdrawn. The Lower Bucks County Hospital application has been made and at the Two Million dollar figure. Concerning the $346,015 additional needed for the expansion called for in the new plans, it is pointed out that 40% would again be covered by the Hill-Burton Act. $207,609 would have to be subscribed locally.

"The decision to proceed was based upon the following factors (not necessarily listed in their order of importance): (1) Area industry has not as yet attained a 100% participation in the project. (2) Residential-business community coverage, due to circumstances prevailing at that time, was approximately only 60% effective. (3) The high percentage of pledges being paid. (4) Organized Labor's willingness to solicit new employees coming into the area-grant continued payroll deduction for the hospital fund for new employees. (5) Interest indicated by many of those not as yet officially contacted by authorized hospital workers. Other factors were considered plus the fact that we now know we are going to have our hospital here—the only question is that of size.

"In the Treasurer's report at the Board of Directors meeting February 7, total cash received to that date was $393,380.17, expenditures to that date were $108,524.17. Treasurer, Mr. Harold F. Hunter, reported that in the final account as rendered by the firm of Hogan, Winters & Company they included the sum of $32,000 which had been donated by an anonymous giver, same to be used for the services of Hogan, Winters & Company as their fee; therefore, the original totals are $32,000 less. To offset this discrepancy, there have been additional subscriptions of over $37,000 since Hogan, Winters & Company closed their books.

"Hospital President, James E. Harris, expressed the viewpoint that 'We are now entering the preliminary stages of working out details and groundwork for our hospital. More and more time and effort is going to be demanded of all those responsible and also those concerned with the success of our project. We all have come far since the inception of the hospital idea was first broached and I am certain all of us will redouble our efforts, if necessary, to successfully reach our common goal.'"

Truman Asks For 7.9 Billion Dollars

ception. Some economy-minded and election-year conscious legislators have served notice that it is due for careful scrutiny.

Without mentioning names, the President took occasion to jibe at the military policies advocated by former President Herbert Hoover and Sen. Taft (R) Ohio.

He said that "Some people would have us withdraw to our own shores and gamble our national safety on air and naval power."

Such a course, he asserted, would be "a mandate for national suicide." He added:

"The problems of American survival would be multiplied to an incalculable extent if we had to face the Soviet threat without the support and assistance of other nations."

Counseling against what he called "false" economy, Mr. Truman declared:

"It would be foolish and dangerous to withhold a dollar now at the risk of expending, not just many times as many dollars, but human lives as well, a few years later."

Of the total appropriation, Western Europe would receive 90 per cent. This includes: Military aid, $4,070,000,000, economic, $1,819,000,000. Other areas are:

Near East and Africa—Military, $606,000,000, economic, $196,000,000; Asia and the Pacific — Military, $611,000,000, economic, $408,000,000; American republics—Military, $62,000,000, economic, $22,000,000.

Mr. Truman summarized his arguments in what he described as these "four propositions":

"First, the plain fact is that we cannot achieve lasting security for ourselves except in association with other nations.

"Second, the funds provided by the U. S. under the . . . program are essential to the success of the common efforts we are making with other free nations for peace.

"Third, the funds invested by the U. S. will yield far larger returns, in terms of our own security, than if the same amount were used for our own defense establishment.

"Fourth, the cost of the . . . program, together with much larger costs of our military services and other defense measures, are well within our economic capacity."

Tax Problems of Small Business Man Are Many

also makes out his tax forms, but, complains Tucker:

"Small businessmen don't know how to judge what their taxes will be. Then, every time the sun comes out, Congress increases taxes and the most we can do is hope we have the money when the time comes to pay up."

A one-time city councilman in the suburban town of East Point, Ga., Tucker has had first-hand experience with government costs and the need for taxes. He explains:

"I don't mind paying income taxes—if everybody would pay his share."

Mrs. Tucker is more severe. Tossing her brown hair, her blue eyes indignant, she exclaimed:

"Taxes! Taxes have wrecked our budget. We like steaks and hams, but there is little of them around our home—because taxes went up."

Nodding in confirmation, Tucker said:

"In 1951, my income tax increased 10 to 15 per cent over the previous year. This March, when I file my estimate of 1952 earnings, I expect another big hike."

Tucker preferred not to go into details on his tax payments, exact income, deductions and the like. But the Tuckers figure that they spend about 45 per cent of their above-taxes income on food, 20 per cent on clothes, 15 per cent on their home, and 5 per cent for entertainment. They try to save 15 per cent of their yearly income for a "nest egg."

The "nest egg" gets a little scrambled during the winter months, which are bad for the real estate business, but swells up starting about April 1, when business gets better. Just the same, Tucker says, his family has been so hit by the rising cost of living that it must "do without a lot of things we can no longer afford."

Then there's the future of 10-year-old Eleanor Rose to consider. Tucker doesn't think $600 a year is really a sufficient exemption for her.

Meanwhile, the Tuckers manage pretty well. Mrs. Tucker has a maid in three times a week—household labor is comparatively cheap in the south—but she does all the cooking herself and helps out a good deal in the business. She writes ads in verse and draws advertising cartoons.

A spirited amateur interior decorator, she worked out herself the decor of the two-story, red-brick home the Tuckers began buying 10 years ago.

Week nights, the 38-year-old Tucker is usually busy with one of his lodges—the Elks, Moose or Masons. Mrs. Tucker is active in the PTA of the school in which Eleanor Rose is a fifth grader. And he likes to get out in the backyard once in a while for an old-fashioned barbecue.

In addition, the Tuckers are active in civic and community work, and in the Jefferson Baptist church, which B. N. has served as Sunday school president.

Tucker doesn't get in as much sport as he would like to, but in January he managed to take his family to Miami to see the Orange Bowl game.

He has some pretty specific ideas on how the tax burden could be eased to help the small businessman.

First, he believes that the small entrepreneur earning less than some amount to be fixed after careful study should be given a flat $1,000-a-year execption to enable him to get along, and to grow.

Then, he believes that the declaration of expected income and installment tax payment, with its attendant headaches of paperwork and raising money during slack seasons, should be abolished. Instead, he feels the small businessman, like the salaried worker, should be allowed to settle his income tax in a lump sum on March 15.

Most of all, Tucker would like to see the income tax dispensed with entirely for those earning less than $15,000 a year and a whopping big sales tax substituted.

He figures that a 10 per cent federal sales tax and a five percent states sales tax "on everything, even medicine and food," would mean that everyone contributed to the national treasury.

He says:

"That way the government would make more money because it would collect taxes from those who never paid before. It would help the taxpayers, too, because as it is now, many persons pay more than 15 per cent in taxes."

PORK LEFTOVER SPECIAL

Those tag ends of pork from a loin roast or shoulder cut fit perfectly into a dish such as this:

Pork and Vegetable Casserole

2 cups diced or ground leftover pork
2 tablespoons fat
½ cup sliced celery
1/3 cup chopped onion
1½ cups mixed cooked vegetables (frozen or canned)
White sauce or gravy
Salt, pepper
2 teaspoons Worcestershire sauce
¾ cup buttered bread or cracker crumbs

Melt fat and in it cook celery and onion until soft. Add meat and vegetables and enough white sauce or gravy to moisten well. Add Worcestershire sauce and salt and pepper to suit taste. Pour into a greased 1½ quart casserole, top with buttered crumbs and bake at 350 degrees F. for 30 minutes. 4 servings.

Housework Easy Without Nagging Backache

Nagging backache, loss of pep and energy, headaches and dizziness may be due to slow-down of kidney function. Doctors say good kidney function is very important to good health. When some everyday condition, such as stress and strain, causes this important function to slow down, many folks suffer nagging backache—feel miserable. Minor bladder irritations due to cold or wrong diet may cause getting up nights or frequent passages.

Don't neglect your kidneys if these conditions bother you. Try Doan's Pills—a mild diuretic. Used successfully by millions for over 50 years. It's amazing how many times Doan's give happy relief from these discomforts—help the 15 miles of kidney tubes and filters flush out waste. Get Doan's Pills today!

The Trouble With Truman

has ruled he has enjoyed more power and had more money to spend than any other figure in all history, then it seems inescapable that there must be something the matter with Mr. Truman and his policies.

Greatest weakness in President Truman is his impetuosity—his "off the cuff" approach not merely to trivial personal affairs, but to matters of the supremest importance to world destiny.

Again and again decisions of monumental significance have been reached on the spur of the moment, and the full weight of national executive power and propaganda thereafter [illegible]d, not to the search for a wise decision which should have been the case, but to whitewashing and rationalizing a course determined upon in ignorance and impetuosity.

Instances are so numerous as to defy listing. One occurred within a matter of minutes from the moment when Mr. Truman took the oath of office—his decision to go ahead with the San Francisco conference when he knew next to nothing about the tragically long list of secret deals with Stalin, and as a matter of fact, according to best information, probably didn't even know about the atomic bomb.

Run carefully back over Mr. Truman's record, and you will discover that he "backed into", so to speak, virtually all the major decisions of his administration. He decided, in the fall of 1945, that it should be possible to raise wages and freeze prices simultaneously—the decision which forever committed him to inflation as a basic policy. He set up his own labor policy, apparently on the spur of the moment and certainly without consulting the leadership of his party. The general program of trying to "confine" Russian Communism, which produced first the Greek program and thereafter the so-called Marshall Plan, was at every stage, it appears, a series of snap-judgments, quite as unexpected, even to his closest associates, as such more recent decisions as sending back into Korea the soldiers his State Department had been withdrawing, and his recalling of General MacArthur.

Mr. Truman has a tempermental characteristic in this respect which actually is probably the most dangerous single factor in all the many elements which will determine the failure or success of our experiment in self-government. For the American nation to be in the hands of a ruler, armed with vast power and influence, whose mental processes appear to be as lacking in predirection and logic as the flip of a coin—that's like giving a baby a loaded gun as a toy!

The specific fields of conduct and policy where this rashness—and brashness—of Mr. Truman has led us deep into trouble would be a very long list indeed. We are far along in inflation as a deliberately supported administrative policy. Cronies and other political-gang figures still less reputable are in charge of much of the public's business and resources, selling favors and rifling the till. Our Constitutional government is on the rocks, with the judicial branch on a sit-down strike against the public, and Congress unable to unite and use its intended powers as the people's most direct agency.

Buying votes with "giveaways", which are financed in part by destructively heavy taxes, but mainly by borrowing against the earnings of future generations still unborn, has become a basic program of self-perpetuating the political machine now holding power.

Efforts to drag this nation into Socialism through the back door, or to plunge it unawares into some new and half-baked form of "super-government" in which the American constitution would disappear and the American people become pawns of greedy fractions wholly outside our own border—these continue to be made with the knowledge, and presumably the help, of Mr. Truman.

We are, in fact, one jump ahead of World War III, a half-step away from national bankruptcy, a whisker off from losing all our Constitutional freedom, and notoriously the victims of confidence men and pilferers in our national government—and if Mr. Truman's not to blame, then who in the world has been President and almost autocratically supreme over our affairs for the past seven years?

And what prospect does the Republican party have of being taken seriously by a public which is at least dimly aware of all this, if the party and its candidate undertake to campaign once again pretending that "all's right with Uncle Sam!"

JEEPS PILE UP AS LONGSHOREMEN GO ON STRIKE

A FAST-SPREADING STRIKE of some 2,000 longshoremen has halted activity on all piers in Jersey City, N. J. A long line of jeeps is pictured above waiting to be loaded at a dock leased by the Army. (International)

SETTING OF A GOOD EXAMPLE FOR KIDDIES EXCELLENT TEACHING

By Frances Vannoy
(Home Economics Extension Representative)

Children are like their parents because of inheritance. Yet this factor does not account for many of the similarities between parents and their children.

Children imitate their parents in many ways, such as speech, handling their bodies, likes and dislikes, attitudes and values. Parents frequently are reminded to set an example for their children. One father was reminded of this when he saw his young son stretching his steps trying to place his feet in the prints his father had left in the snow as he walked to the barn. He thought, "If my son tries to imitate me in this way, may he not also imitate me in other things I do." He began to take mental inventory of the things he did that he would not want to see his son do.

Sometimes parents get discouraged and think that it's useless to set a good example. Usually with close examination a parent will discover how really important the example he has set has been. In the long run, setting a good example pays even though there may seem to be little in present child action to encourage parents.

Studies made in parent-child relationships bear out the importance of parents being well adjusted, happy individuals themselves with a growing interest and participation in the world about them. This is a special warning to mothers who are often likely to limit their interests and activities to their homes and children. Family life specialists say that mothers owe it to themselves and their families to keep up their outside interests without neglecting their children.

RECRUITS

CHATTANOOGA, Tenn.—(INS)—Tennessee Valley Authority personnel officers are visiting Southern universities to recruit some of thousand engineers needed in the TVA construction program. The program includes new hydro plants at Boone and Fort Patrick Henry dams in East Tennessee and five steam plants in Alabama, Kentucky and Tennessee.

RECIPES

Frankfurter Pie

1 pound frankfurters, sliced ½ inch thick
1 onion, chopped
¼ cup chopped green pepper
½ cup chopped celery
3 tablespoons butter or margerine
2¼ tablespoons enriched flour
1¼ cups milk
1 tablespoon Worcestershire sauce
1 teaspoon salt
⅛ teaspoon pepper
1½ cups mashed potatoes

Brown frankfurters, onion, green pepper and celery in butter or margerine. Blend in flour. Add milk and cook, stirring constantly until thickened. Add Worcestershire sauce and seasonings. Pour into a greased 8-inch casserole and top with mashed potatoes. Bake in a moderate oven (350 degrees F.) for 30 minutes. 6 servings.

George School

NEWTOWN, Mar. 5 — Naming of Eleanor K. Hess, director of girls athletics at George School, as faculty sponsor recently brought to completion school plans to send overseas another student work camp group, the fourth in the five-year-old affiliation program with two schools in Germany.

Rounding out the complement of the tri-national work camp contingent for George School are: Wilhelmina Braddock, senior, from Waynesville, O.; Judith Weigand, junior, Schenectady, N. Y.; Sheridan Johns, junior, Morrisville; and Peter Zavitz, junior, Chevy Chase, Md. Joining these representatives from Bucks County Friends School will be groups from Germantown Friends School and its affiliate at Falaise, France, as well as groups from George School's affiliates in Dusseldorf and Berlin, Germany.

As yet the exact site and nature of the work remain to be decided. The past two summers the work campers built a reservoir and a building, and aided in other ways at a refugee camp for the very old and young near Dorlar, Germany. The 1952 work campers will sail in June, return in September.

Miss Hess is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frederick G. Hess, Llanerch, and is completing her fifth year in the girls physical education department at George School. She holds both bachelor's and master's degrees from the University of Pennsylvania, Phila.

"WASHINGTON REPORT"

By FULTON LEWIS, JR.

(Copyright, 1952, King Features Syndicate, Inc.)

WASHINGTON, Mar. 6 — Wayne Coy, who resigned recently as head of the Federal Communications Commission is the latest to state that the reason he did so is that he is trotting around in rags, underpaid and unappreciated.

President Truman, who has also made his living off us taxpayers for the past 20 years, chimed in with a loud "yea" as he always does when one of the downtrodden bureaucrats sings this refrain.

Coy's salary was $15,000 annually, plus the usual 26-day vacation and sick leave prerogatives of all federal employees. He also could accumulate the $9 a day travel pay and was provided with free transportation whenever he went on official trips, which was often. As near as I can determine it is the most money he has ever made in his life. Prior to his job as chairman of the FCC, Coy served as a special assistant to Franklin D. Roosevelt, was an assistant director of the budget and held several other government jobs prior to and during World War Two, after having started his business career as a newspaperman.

Just as in the case of most bureaucrats, however, what Coy was paid as a government official will be small change compared to what he will earn in private business as a former FCC chairman. And he won't be given it because of what he knew before he went to work for us taxpayers, but for what he learned and the people he met while working for us.

The roster of former government officials who "sacrificed" their personal fortunes to work for the government, only to cash in later because they knew their way around administration circles, is long and growing longer daily. In fact, a number have acquired small fortunes simply because they had the brains to remember the White House telephone number.

Mr. Truman bid Coy farewell with this remark:

"Yours is the ironic story of so many key civil servants whose abilities and special skills must be lost to the government because of the inadequacy of government salaries."

I do not question Coy's capabilities. But he acquired a lot of them while attached to the government payroll. And he is leaving now, at 48 years of age, with lots of years left to earn fat fees representing various organizations before government agencies. So it would seem he should have the decency to admit that his government service has aided and abetted his career, instead of slouching out the side door with the complaint that he didn't make enough to keep his children in the fancy schools to which they apparently have become accustomed.

How many people do you know who keep two children comfortably on far less than $15,000 a year? Coy says he has one child in college and one in Prep school and it costs him a lot of money. Nobody will argue that, but he ought to be able to do it on $15,000 a year.

The facts are that government salaries are higher than at any time in history, and in some cases surpass those paid in private industry. Naturally, few government officials outside of the President earn salaries comparable to those paid top-flight industrial managers and executives, but we are talking about the wage earner below that level, be he in government or private employment.

Few wage earners in private industry get 26-day vacations, and are permitted to take some three weeks or so of sick leave, with pay, each year. Fewer yet get time off for parades and all official and unofficial holidays, as federal workers do. Besides, there is a standard practice in Washington of loading the payroll with "standby" employees whose only job is to sit and wait until there is some work for them to do. Civil Service likewise allows a constant upgrading of employees, who perform the same work but get more money each year in addition to the substantial pay hikes voted frequently by Congress.

And there is one more gimmick which I know most of us don't enjoy. After serving a certain number of years on the federal payroll employees are entitled to retirement. In most cases the employees are placed in higher grades just before retirement so they can draw a bigger pension check. This is carried to the extreme, wherein the wife of a White House aide, who is privately well off, is promoted to a fictitious job calling for more salary just before she retires.

It goes on all the time. So does Mr. Truman's phony chant that federal salaries are dirt cheap. The truth is that most of them never had it so good, and the President knows it.

TAX PROBLEMS OF SMALL BUSINESS MAN ARE MANY

Sports Fan Sees Nothing Sporting in Steady Rise of Income Taxes

POINTS OUT FAULTS

Says Some Businessmen Do Not Earn As Much As A Good, Salaried Worker

This is the fourth of five articles telling the tax problems and cost-of-living headaches of average and middle income Americans. Previous articles have told the informal, personal stories of a factory worker, a farmer and a city white collar worker. Today's chapter deals with the problems of a small business man.

"The Taxes We Pay"
—ARTICLE FOUR—
By Margaret Brewer
INS Staff Correspondent

ATLANTA, Ga., Mar. 6 — (INS) —Jovial B. N. Tucker, a rabid football and baseball fan, sees nothing sporting in the steady rise of income taxes.

As he sees it, the government has the game rigged, and the odds are all against the taxpayer. Something should be done, he feels, to give all an even shake.

Like many small businessmen, Tucker has moments when he wonders whether it wouldn't be wiser to go to work for someone else. He operates a real estate agency in Atlanta, specializing in homes and lots, but handling commercial property now and then. His agency employs five persons.

"Many small businessmen don't earn as much as a good salaried worker," Tucker said. He pointed out that a sharp real estate salesman often makes more than the owner of a realty company without having the owner's bookkeeping and management headaches.

Tucker says he is in the $5,000 to $7,000-a-year class himself. To get into that bracket he puts in 10 to 15 hours "or more" at work each day. But he still manages to find time for a host of extra-business activities, and the Tuckers live well.

Taxes are one of his big headaches. Not getting a regular pay check, he must estimate his income in advance and shell out to the government in regular installments.

The certified public accountant who handles Tucker's bookkeeping on a part-time basis for $50 a month

30 Soroptimists Meet; Plan for Conventions

DOYLESTOWN, Mar. 6—With 30 Soroptimists present, the Bucks County unit of that woman's club made plans Monday evening for a fashion show in April.

The regional convention at Reading, Apr. 25-27, and the national convention in Washington, D. C., were announced; also a joint session with the local Lions Club. The latter will be a dinner meeting on April 24th. A number of members will be at the Reading sessions.

Past President, Mrs. Emma P. Stover, Doylestown, and Miss Marian Gallagher, Yardley, were named delegates to the American Federation of Soroptimists in Washington, D. C., in July. Miss Gallagher is the delegate and Mrs. Stover alternate.

President Lillian Kelley reminded the Soroptimists of their project, the Pennsylvania Woman's Medical College, Philadelphia, for 1951-52.

THE TROUBLE WITH TRUMAN

As one attempts to analyze the Republican position with reference to the choice of a candidate for President this year, the proposition eventually presents itself that during the campaign the party has quite as much responsibility to tell what is wrong with President Truman as to say what is right with its own nominee.

One way of identifying the fatal weakness in the Republican national campaigns for the past four elections is to say that in none of them did the Republican standard-bearer indict the incumbent administrations for their mistakes and misdeeds.

For this reason the Democrats have been able to maintain that the Republican candidates, starting with Landon in 1936, have had nothing to say of national policy except "Me Too."

There seems to be no reason to believe that the American public will ever return to support of the Republican leadership nationally until a campaigner enters the arena who not only knows why he is against a continuation of the New-Deal-Fair-Deal-Pendergastism now in command at Washington, but is willing to indict it publicly.

This lack of criticism and denunciation was, of course, especially conspicuous in the case of Governor Dewey, whose main attractiveness to the Republican Party was his being a fearless prosecutor of gangsterism in New York, called upon to indict and punish those whom many believe to be still more evil influences arrogantly entrenched at Washington.

Going a step further in this analysis, it is important to keep in mind the main lines of weakness and impropriety in the Truman record, so that the public statements of all Republican hopefuls may be reviewed to see if they are "pulling their punches."

What's the trouble with Truman? Where are the weak spots in his record as chief executive? What are his mistakes and his improper actions?

Needless to say, no two critics would give the same answer. Needless to say also, many Democrats and many of the so-called "international" thinkers of both parties, who wish the Truman foreign policies continued regardless of who sits in the White House, will be inclined to soft-pedal the whole subject.

Nevertheless, when we stop to look at this nation's relative position, at the closing stages of the war and today, and remember that in the period of nearly seven years during which Truman

PERKASIE TAX RATE IS SET AT 12 MILLS

Borough Budget of $59,000 is Adopted at Meeting of The Council

ELECTRIC PROFIT $5,242

PERKASIE, Mar. 6 — A $59,000 municipal budget was adopted by Borough Council.

The tax rate was fixed at twelve mills, the same rate that was effective last year. The Electric Department's $190,000 budget was approved at the meeting.

Lloyd Weisel, chairman of the electric light committee, announced that 318 electric stoves and thirty electric water heaters are in operation in the borough.

The borough's five-year contract with the Pennsylvania Power and Light Company will expire next August 31. William T. Notter, superintendent of the P. P. & L. offices in Sellersville and Perkasie, is expected to attend council's April meeting to discuss the renewal of the contract.

The P. P. & L. has already applied for an increase in rates to large consumers, including Perkasie. A $5,242.41 profit was reported by the electric department in February.

Council has notified the owner of the turbine which is being stored in Perkasie at a rent of twenty-five dollars per month that unless he removes the engine, the rent will be raised to $125 per month. Plans to use the storage space for borough offices are being discussed.

WORLD NEWS IN BRIEF

A list of 174 Allied soldiers believed captured in the Korean war but not accounted for on any enemy tabulation was handed to the Communists with a request for detailed information. This was the only development at the truce talks, which continued in stalemate.

Recent events interpreted as an increasing attempt by King Paul of Greece and a "palace guard" to interfere in political and military matters have led some American quarters to fear that Greek unity and morale is endangered. General Eisenhower was warmly greeted in Salonika and Athens when he arrived to welcome Greece into NATO.

The four-nation Mediterranean maneuvers to test how a mixed task force would operate was adjudged a success by an international evaluation board.

Prime Minister Churchill won a 314-to-219 victory in the British Commons, defeating a Labor motion of no confidence in the rearming program.

Western Europe received two bits of advice. Andre Philip of France told the Economic Commission for Europe that it was a mistake to count on a depression in the United States as a cure for world economic ills. American officials have been pressing NATO nations to organize a new combined information program to acquaint their people with NATO aims.

Secretary Acheson confirmed that he had overruled the State Department Loyalty and Security Board and had cleared O. Edmund Clubb of being a security risk. At a Senate inquiry, Prof. Owen Lattimore testified that while the Administration's China policy in 1946 was "closely similar" to his own views, it was "an absurd exaggeration" to suggest that he had dictated that policy.

A Chinese Nationalist shipping firm that had been sending cargoes to Communist China shortly before the Korean conflict was represented in obtaining surplus tankers by himself and his law partner, Newbold Morris, Houston R. Wasson told a Senate group As one House committee voted to call former Internal Revenue Collector Nunan and three other New Yorkers to a closed hearing on tax scandals, the Justice Department refused to give another House group a list of cases referred to it by other Federal agencies in which prosecutions were declined.

Efforts may be made in Congress to revive the Universal Military Training bill through Senate action, although the House shelved its measure.

NO. 6 FIREMEN TO MEET

There will be a meeting of the Bristol Volunteer Fire Company, No. 6, tonight at 7.30 o'clock, in the station house, Hayes street. All members are urged to attend.

Public Service Desires To Extend Bulkhead

Notice is given that the Public Service Electric and Gas Company has applied for a Department of the Army permit to construct an extension to an existing bulkhead in Delaware River approximately 1300 feet downstream from the Burlington-Bristol Bridge.

The applicant's plans provide for a 294-foot upstream bulkhead extension in prolongation of the existing bulkhead. The upstream, outer corner of the proposed bulkhead extension would be approximately 220 feet from the edge of the present channel along Devlin Range.

Decision as to whether or not a permit will be issued on the plans submitted rest primarily upon the effect of the work on navigation. Any criticism or protest regarding the plans from the standpoint of navigation should be submitted to the District Engineer prior to Apr. 3.

TRUMAN ASKS FOR 7.9 BILLION DOLLARS

Money To Be Used in Foreign Military and Economic Aid

A 6,000-WORD MESSAGE

By Robert G. Nixon
I. N. S. Staff Correspondent)

WASHINGTON, Mar. 6—(INS)—President Truman asked Congress today for 7.9 billion dollars in foreign military and economic aid to avoid what he said might be a higher cost in money and human lives "a few years later."

In a 6,000-word message embodying his mutual security program request for fiscal 1953, the President said it is not a question of whether the outlay is "too large, but whether it is too small."

The appropriation, he declared, is "essential to advance our program for world peace and to protect . . . the United States" against Communist aggression. It is neither "charity" nor "handouts," he added.

He said the U. S. will gain "far larger returns" than if the same amount is used for American armed forces.

Mr. Truman will discuss his program in a coast-to-coast radio and television address at 10.30 p. m. (EST) tonight.

On Capitol Hill, advance notice of the request brought a cool re-

Will Collect Items For Firemen's Auction

FALLSINGTON, Mar. 6 — Falls Township Fire Company held a meeting Monday evening in the fire station with Wilmer Bachman, president, in charge.

Secretary and treasury reports were given, and Chief Charles Steiner reported seven fires during the past month.

Paul Sterling announced that on March 8th and 9th the firemen were going to collect in the Township for any articles that could be used in an auction the firemen will sponsor in the near future.

Wesley Worsman, Edward Miskel and Morris Appenzeller were appointed to make plans for a dinner. Next meeting will be April 7th.

Trenton Clergyman Is Speaker for Clubwomen

FALLSINGTON, Mar. 6 — The Pennsbury Club entertained members of the Newtown Junior Century Club, Tuesday evening, at a meeting in Fallsington Friends Meeting House.

The Rev. Gerald Minchin, of St. James Episcopal Church, Trenton, N. J., was the guest speaker. His topic was "Frontiers of Present Day Life."

On May 17th, the Pennsbury Club will participate in a bus trip to New York, N. Y. Anyone interested may make reservations by contacting Mrs. Kenneth Traub.

Refreshments were served by Mrs. A. Sturrock and Mrs. Bartley Cook to 16 members and eight visitors.

AMBULANCE CASES

The Bristol Blood Donors transported three people home from hospitals in their ambulance yesterday. Misses Jo Ann Dugan, 8, and Kathleen Dugan, 6, were returned from the Hahnemann Hospital in Philadelphia to their home at 625 Spruce street at 9.45 a. m. Mrs. Joseph Stowe, Clymer street, was transported to her home from the Abington Hospital at one p. m.

Local Auto Dealer Moving. U. S. STEEL WITHDRAWS HOSPITAL PLANS

Application Has Been Withdrawn, Announcement States

PART II OF REPORT

Part II. of the Lower Bucks County Hospital Building Fund's Public Relations Report today sets forth some new and interesting facts concerning the proposed hospital. The first portion was published last week.

The Part II. of the report reads:

"This portion of this report concerns the factors determining the decision of the Board of Directors authorizing the expenditure of approximately $40,000 not previously anticipated, for architectural work.

"New plans call for a 100-bed hospital, to include the necessary mechanic facilities, foundations, etc., to allow the expansion of the plans to permit the accommodation of 300 patient beds. Estimated cost is $346,015 more than the approved original plans.

Two Children Injured As Two Cars Collide

TREVOSE, Mar. 6 — Two children were injured slightly last evening at Philadelphia and Trevose avenues, according to Police Chief of Bensalem township, George Rentz.

Rentz said the two were injured when an automobile operated by their father, William P. Kiesel, Sr., Trevose, collided with another car at the above location.

The children, William, Jr., four, and James, eight months, were taken to Nazareth Hospital, Phila. by Fire Chief C. A. Russell. Both were treated and discharged.

The other driver was John Gallagher, Siles, police said.

CORRECTION

The salary fixed by the Bristol Borough School Board for an attendance officer was $50 per week, and not $50 per month, as reported in the Courier last evening.

Miss Elaine Reed Is Entering Nurses' Corps

EDGELY, Mar. 6 — A former Edgely resident, Miss Elaine Reed, R. N., daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Reed, now of Newtown, expects to leave March 14th, by 'plane from International Airport, Philadelphia, for Ft. Sam Houston, San Antonio, Tex.

Miss Reed is entering the Army Nurses Corps, as a second lieutenant. She expects to attend student dispatch training school there. She is a graduate of Bristol high school, class of 1948, and of Northeastern Hospital School of Nursing, Philadelphia, class of 1951.

WOMAN LAWYER LOSES OWN CASE

Cleo M. Smith, Line Lexington, Acts As Her Own Counsel

OTHER COURT CASES

DOYLESTOWN, Mar. 6 — A woman lawyer acting as her own counsel lost her case at a trial before the Bucks County Court. Cleo M. Smith, Line Lexington matron, was the defendant and the verdict was returned against her by the jury in the sum of $200 and interest amounting to $84, or a total of $284.

The plaintiff, in whose favor the two-day trial ended, was Dominick Schiavone, Lansdale, who was suing the matron - defendant for $200, growing out of the construction of three chimneys on her mansard roof type home. The interest was computed from March, 1945, to date.

GRAHAM READY FOR "LAST MILE HOME"

Pipe-Fitter Fireman Has Been in Mediterranean For Six Months

BARBETTA PROCESSED

After six months in the Mediterranean aboard the landing ship dock USS "White Marsh," "the longest mile to roam is still the last mile home" for Joseph S. Graham, pipefitter fireman, USN, husband of Mrs. Lillian C. Graham, of 609 Bath street. The "White Marsh" starts toward its home port of Norfolk, Va., this month after six months in the Mediterranean as part of Transport Division 24, Amphibious Force, U. S. Atlantic Fleet. This cruise has included visits to such ports as Oran, French Algeria; Naples, Italy; Athens, Greece; Golfe Juan, France, and Malta. Part of the Mediterranean schedule for the "White Marsh" has included the landing of Marine units on Sardinia and Crete for training in amphibious tactics.

The coldest part of the winter is over for James R. Cliver, seaman, USN, son of Mr. and Mrs. Harvey G. Cliver, of Otter street, as it is

$75 DAMAGE BY FIRE

CROYDON, Mar. 6—Fire, due to a defective oil burner, caused damage estimated at $75 at the home of George Geiger, 127 Neshaminy road, this morning at 7.15. Croydon Fire Co. responded to the call. A hole was burned through the bathroom floor.

LATEST NEWS BULLETINS

Down One Mig and Damage Another

Seoul—American pilots, outnumbered more than three to one, today shot down one MIG-15 jet and damaged another in an air battle that ranged as far south as the North Korean capital of Pyongyang. The dogfight pitted six American Sabrejets against 22 MIGs and the American "kill" brought to six the number of definitely knocked-out MIGs in the past two days. Other action was highlighted by long range duels between Communist and Allied guns ashore and aboard ship. On the ground, Communist gunners and mortarmen kept up a steady pounding of Allied positions along a small stretch of the front.

Pinay Wants Tax Loopholes Plugged

Paris—Independent conservative Antoine Pinay, seeking approval of French National Assembly as premier, urged today that tax loopholes be plugged before any new levies are imposed. He suggested not only legal penalties but suspension of civil rights for tax evaders.

Top Labor Leaders Discuss Latest Party Rift

London—Former Prime Minister Attlee and other top labor leaders met in London today to study the impact of the latest rift between their party's left and right wings. The sharp break was spearheaded by former cabinet member Aneurin Bevan.

Lebanon—A general alarm fire raged through an entire city block adjacent to the downtown business district in Lebanon today. The flames threatened a large market house and many small homes.

CLAIMS PRESENT BUCKS SITUATION WAS INEVITABLE

"In the Path of Two Giant Steamrollers, One From N. Y., One from Phila."

SAYS DR. BREESE

Addresses Poorly-Attended Meeting in Falls Township

By Staff Reporter

FALLSINGTON, Mar. 6 — A very large percentage of the residents of Falls township and nearby areas missed out on a "good thing", as Dr. Gerald Breese, director of the Bureau of Urban Research of Princeton (N. J.) University, addressed a handful of local residents and members of the Falls Township Civic Association last evening in the Free Library. Dr. Breese discussed what is happening in lower Bucks County and especially in Falls township.

Breese is a member of the Joint Urban Research Bureau, sponsored by Princeton University and the University of Pennsylvania, Phila., which is conducting an investigation entitled "Development of Guides for Urbanization in Metropolitan Regions Affected by the Building of Large Industrial Plants."

Dr. Breese stated: "There is only one project of this nature that is larger in the United States. That is the Savanah River area where the hydrogen bomb site is being constructed. It is bigger but it is also different. Our bureau is at present studying that project also. What we are trying to do is to discover what is happening. There has been some feeling expressed in previous meetings that the cause of all of the upheaval is due to the coming of the steel plant. If you take the time to examine the situation you would see that this situation was inevitable, and that small plants have been creeping up on us for years. It is impossible that Bucks County could have stayed as it was in 1950. Bucks County is in the path of two giant steamrollers, one from New York city and the other from Phila. Falls township is right in the middle of this advance. I heard someone remark the other day that '19th century Bucks County is having its front door kicked in by 20th

An audience of 200, predominantly women and including 23 girls of the ninth grade home economics class, Bensalem township high school, attended the second of three cooking school sessions here yesterday. The sessions are offered by the Marie Gifford Cooking School, and are being held in the Grand Theatre. The final class will be held this afternoon.

Miss Gifford, home economist for the eastern division of Armour and Co., prepared six tempting dishes that had been given a new twist to enhance their appeal. She prepared Hawaiian chicken, apple pie with a cheese crust, cheese "stix," golden-glow beef pie, party ham loaf tray, fresh fruit and sausage tray, and a quick "serve your own" tray of sandwich spreads served in green pepper shells. Miss Gifford was halted several times by spontaneous applause for her cooking masterpieces.

The groceries used in preparing the dishes came from the three Safe Food Markets in this area, which firm is sponsoring the school along with Woler's Hardware store, the Philco dealer in this area. Philco appliances—a range, refrigerator and deepfreeze, are used. Fifty bags of groceries were given as door prizes. The groceries were purchased in Safe Food Markets and donated by the Bond Bread Co.

Miss Helen Conboy, Eddington, was awarded the apple pie as a door prize. Mrs. Martha Tyson, 731 Second avenue, Croydon, won the beef pie. Miss Polly Gillis, Glen Ashton Farms, Bensalem township, was given the stuffed peppers; while the chicken was taken home by Miss Elizabeth Uslin, of Eddington. Mrs. Harold Kleppinger, 1115 Radcliffe street, was given the party tray.

BAD ECONOMIC LAW

Forces for and against legalized price fixing vendors of certain commodities are engaged in a merry battle at Washington. The issue is whether Congress should act to make the so-called fair trade laws of 45 states enforceable against retailers who refuse to sign contracts for the sale or resale of trade-marked goods at prices set by the manufacturers or distributors.

Until the Supreme Court of the United States spoke last May, a provision of the state laws enabled vendors to compel adherence to their fixed sale prices by all retailers whether or not they had signed contracts.

The court ruled that this exceeded the intent of Congress in amending the anti-trust laws so the state laws would not be in contravention of interstate commerce prohibitions—that unless a retailer signed a contract he was free to sell goods he obtained in interstate commerce at whatever prices he desired.

In the move to circumvent this decision through federal legislation there is evidence of high pressure tactics. An enabling House bill, referred to the Judiciary Committee, was followed by another which the "fair traders" succeeded in having referred to the Commerce Committee, regarded by them as more favorable to their aims. This committee gave prompt approval, while the Judiciary Committee hearings were still in progress.

Weighing all the arguments, there is no evading the conclusion that making a price maintenance contract between a manufacturer and one or more retailers binding on all retailers cannot be sustained as sound economics.

WHAT! NO TELEVISION?

There are still cowboys in the West. Americans are eating more meat than ever, and nobody has invented a machine that herds cows, rounds up steers and does the ranch chores. The cowboy has less trouble with Indians and rustlers and other outlaws than his counterpart of the old West, but his life hasn't changed much.

The cowboy's is still a lonely job, held down by a laconic breed of individualists. There are still wide-open spaces for hombres who don't want to be fenced in. And some of them, no doubt, still sing in the saddle.

But something new has been added—or is about to be. Somebody has just patented a saddle radio. It has tuning knobs on the pommel, loop antennas in the saddle-bags and batteries under the seat. So the next time you ride down the old Chisholm Trial on a starry night, don't be surprised if the voice you hear coming from a lone vaquero sounds like Gene Autry's or Roy Rogers'. Maybe it will be.

Army auditor admits there was an air base waste of $50,000,000 in North Africa. In this case it cannot be claimed that we owe it to ourselves.

FORT MEADE, Md., Mar. 6—Pvt. Eugene Barbetta, 23, son of Mrs. Josephine Barbetta, 434 Jefferson avenue, Bristol, Pa., has completed processing at the 2053d Reception Center here and is assigned to the 71st Engineer Aviation Battalion, Fort Huachuca, Ariz., for basic training.

Undergoing recruit training at the U. S. Naval Training Center, Bainbridge, Md., is Harry B. Cross, seaman recruit, USN, son of Mr. and Mrs. William S. Cross, of 66 Schumacher drive.

Cross, who attended Bristol township high school, entered the naval service Feb. 5, 1952.

This initial training includes instruction in such fields as seamanship, fire-fighting, gunnery, signaling, and other courses designed to make the recruit well-versed in every phase of Navy life. Upon completion of their 11-week training period at the recently re-activated training center, graduates are assigned to duty stations with the Fleet or at Navy shore stations, or are sent to service schools for advanced technical training.

THREE ENLIST

A trio of young men from this section have enlisted in the U. S. Air Corps, and reported today at Sampson Air Force Base, N. Y., for a training period. The group includes: Richard Baker, son of Mr. and Mrs. Erwin Baker, Tullytown; Joseph Termyna, Jr., son of Joseph Termyna, Sr., Tullytown; and Joseph Paul, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Paul, 740 Corson street.

Gets Dad's Award

MAJ. GEN. William B. Kean, commanding general of the 3rd Army Corps, pins a Silver Star Medal on Larry Westin, 5, at the boy's home in San Diego. The award was presented posthumously to Capt. S. E. Westin, Larry's father, who was killed in Korea. (International)

MARRIAGE LICENSES

Horace M. Bauman, of Quakertown, RD 2, and Anna M. Simitz, of Spinnerstown.

Richard Bryam, and Dolores Sclight, both of Philadelphia.

Claims Present Bucks Situation Was Inevitable

century industry', which is a fair analysis of the situation."

Dr. Breese went on to explain that the purpose of the research investigation was to discover only what is happening, not to tell people what they should do. "It is hoped," he added, "That we will be able to learn lessons for future developments. It would be inconsistent for us to make suggestions and thus attempt to control what is happening when the study is about what does happen."

Dr. Breese spoke at great length about the lack of data available to the bureau. There were no maps, statistics, or readily available information on the county, he stated. "We have compiled a gigantic amount of statistics and have drawn our own maps. All of the information that we have is available to the public for their use in better understanding the problem and planning for it. Everything in Bucks County will have to be increased in size. The traffic, housing and school problems are huge, but there is no reason why they cannot be overcome by swift planning measures now. Falls township is especially fortunate to have the tax base of the U. S. Steel plant. The problem is one of great urgency and planning is a necessity."

Dr. Breese threw open the floor to questions following his talk, and asked John T. Mladjen, Langhorne, to aid him in answering them. Dr. Breese was asked if he had forgotten the Bucks County Planning Commission, when he stated that there was little or no planning being done. Dr. Breese answered, "The Bucks County Planning Commission has a responsibility to the entire county. They can never meet all of the problems swiftly enough. There must laways be local thought and guidance. It is inevitable that what is done in one community is going to affect another in this area. What type of overall government will evolve when there are solid adjoining communities from Morrisville to the Phila. city line? These things must be anticipated and planned for. Independent, uncoordinated planning is not as efficient or effective as combined planning. There are several hundred millions of dollars worth of real estate that should be properly governed. Ask yourselves what type of community you want. Where do you, the citizens, want the traffic to be? I know that many of your leading citizens are leaving the area. It is possible to leave now at a profit, but with a real understanding of the problem it can be solved. There is a great need for zoning."

Mr. Mladjen stated that, "there is no trouble in getting zoning passed. If your local government will not support it, go and see Mr. Levitt and Mr. Galbreath. They have spent a lot of money in this area. Ask them what assurance they have that there won't be a glue factory built across the street from their homes? They will sign a petition for you. The Steel Company wants zoning of a type also. Correct zoning would save them money, if it made sure that there were good highways for their workers and schools for the workers children. Never underestimate the affect of an organized feeling on the part of citizens."

Mr. Mladjen continued "Never let yourself get into the feeling that tomorrow will do and that next month won't hurt. Get the facts, make your position clear, and support them with effective organizations. Form a planning group and pass zoning ordinances and you will have made a good start in solving the problem."

Prior to Dr. Breese's talk the Falls Township Civic Assoc. held a short business meeting.

CHEESE FACTS

NEW YORK—(INS)—Americans are becoming a nation of cheese-eaters. Consumption in the U. S. has almost doubled in the past three decades. Last year the per capita ration was more than seven pounds. The United States now produces a third of the world's cheese, and a greater variety—300 types—than any other country.

hygiene programs, in promoting such projects and in seeing that they were properly administered. Mr. Morse has also served for several years as a consultant to the Atomic Energy Commission's Argonne National Laboratory.

A native of Boston, Mass., Mr. Morse received a B. S. Degree in mechanical engineering from Tufts College and a Masters Degree from Harvard University, majoring in industrial hygiene in the School of Public Health. During his wide experience in both the technical and administrative phases of industrial hygiene, Mr. Morse has worked with several government agencies, including the U. S. Department of Labor, where he prepared safety and health codes under the NRA in 1934 and 1935. Upon leaving Washington, he joined the U. S. Public Health Service and was assigned as Assistant Regional Director in the Pacific Coast Area.

Mr. Morse is on the faculty of the University of Illinois School of Medicine and has taught the principles of industrial hygiene and safety to medical students, safety engineers and professional groups. He is also the author of several papers dealing with industrial hygiene and air pollution programs.

Claims Present Bucks Situation Was Inevitable

century industry', which is a fair analysis of the situation."

Dr. Breese went on to explain that the purpose of the research investigation was to discover only what is happening, not to tell people what they should do. "It is hoped," he added, "That we will be able to learn lessons for future developments. It would be inconsistent for us to make suggestions and thus attempt to control what is happening when the study is about what does happen."

Dr. Breese spoke at great length about the lack of data available to the bureau. There were no maps, statistics, or readily available information on the county, he stated. "We have compiled a gigantic amount of statistics and have drawn our own maps. All of the information that we have is available to the public for their use in better understanding the problem and planning for it. Everything in Bucks County will have to be increased in size. The traffic, housing and school problems are huge, but there is no reason why they cannot be overcome by swift planning measures now. Falls township is especially fortunate to have the tax base of the U. S. Steel plant. The problem is one of great urgency and planning is a necessity."

Dr. Breese threw open the floor to questions following his talk, and asked John T. Mladjen, Langhorne, to aid him in answering them. Dr. Breese was asked if he had forgotten the Bucks County Planning Commission, when he stated that there was little or no planning being done. Dr. Breese answered, "The Bucks County Planning Commission has a responsibility to the entire county. They can never meet all of the problems swiftly enough. There must laways be local thought and guidance. It is inevitable that what is done in one community is going to affect another in this area. What type of overall government will evolve when there are solid adjoining communities from Morrisville to the Phila. city line? These things must be anticipated and planned for. Independent, uncoordinated planning is not as efficient or effective as combined planning. There are several hundred millions of dollars worth of real estate that should be properly governed. Ask yourselves what type of community you want. Where do you, the citizens, want the traffic to be? I know that many of your leading citizens are leaving the area. It is possible to leave now at a profit, but with a real understanding of the problem it can be solved. There is a great need for zoning."

Mr. Mladjen stated that, "there is no trouble in getting zoning passed. If your local government will not support it, go and see Mr. Levitt and Mr. Galbreath. They have spent a lot of money in this arta. Ask them what assurance they have that there won't be a glue factory built across the street from their homes? They will sign a petition for you. The Steel Company wants zoning of a type also. Correct zoning would save them money, if it made sure that there were good highways for their workers and schools for the workers children. Never underestimate the effect of an organized feeling on the part of citizens."

Mr. Mladjen continued "Never let yourself get into the feeling that tomorrow will do and that next month won't hurt. Get the facts, make your position clear, and support them with effective organizations. Form a planning group and pass zoning ordinances and you will have made a good start in solving the problem."

Prior to Dr. Breese's talk the Falls Township Civic Assoc. held a short business meeting.

CHEESE FACTS

NEW YORK—(INS)—Americans are becoming a nation of cheese-eaters. Consumption in the U. S. has almost doubled in the past three decades. Last year the per capita ration was more than seven pounds. The United States now produces a third of the world's cheese, and a greater variety—300 types—than any other country.

hygiene programs, in promoting such projects and in seeing that they were properly administered. Mr. Morse has also served for several years as a consultant to the Atomic Energy Commission's Argonne National Laboratory.

A native of Boston, Mass., Mr. Morse received a B. S. Degree in mechanical engineering from Tufts College and a Masters Degree from Harvard University, majoring in industrial hygiene in the School of Public Health. During his wide experience in both the technical and administrative phases of industrial hygiene, Mr. Morse has worked with several government agencies, including the U. S. Department of Labor, where he prepared safety and health codes under the NRA in 1934 and 1935. Upon leaving Washington, he joined the U. S. Public Health Service and was assigned as Assistant Regional Director in the Pacific Coast Area.

Mr. Morse is on the faculty of the University of Illinois School of Medicine and has taught the principles of industrial hygiene and safety to medical students, safety engineers and professional groups. He is also the author of several papers dealing with industrial hygiene and air pollution programs.

CORNWELLS HEIGHTS

Mrs. Andrew Waggoner and son, Rudolph, of Belton, Texas, are visiting Mr. and Mrs. Otto Frolich for several weeks.

NEWPORTVILLE

Visitors for five days last week at the home of Mr. and Mrs. John Cameron were their son-in-law and daughter, Major and Mrs. Howard E. Thompson, Arlington, Va.

TULLYTOWN

Lewis Vanderslice was removed to Naval Hospital, Philadelphia, where he is a patient under observation.

Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Hamner and daughter Patricia have moved from a Silvi property on Main street to a house, also on Main street, vacated by Mr. and Mrs. Humbert Durante.

HULMEVILLE

A covered dish supper is scheduled for 6.30 Monday evening for members of the Ladies Auxiliary in William Penn Fire Co. station. The committee in charge will provide dessert. A St. Patrick party will follow the meeting.

Teachers of Grace Episcopal Church School met Monday evening in the parish house. The group decided to join the Fellowship Commission and the Fellowship House, Philadelphia, these being laboratories for racial, religious and nationality understanding. Lenten mite boxes were distributed, the mission emphasis this year being on Brazil. From the Sunday School treasury a sum will be used to match that received through the mite boxes, said boxes to be returned at Easter time. Alfred Holden, Newportville, superintendent, presided, with Raymond Marshall, Croydon, serving as secretary. On Sunday, Phyllis Blessing, a member of the Church School, received her 12th year bar, set with her birthstone. This is a reward for 12 years perfect attendance. Presentation was made by Richard Dunlap.

ANDALUSIA

On Feb. 29th, Post 9198 held its first boys' club meeting, with 25 boys, aged 10-16 years, attending. This meeting was held in the Post home, and until weather permits outdoor practice periods, there will be meetings held every Friday evening at 7.30. All boys interested in sports who have not registered may do so by attending the next athletic meeting, March 7th, in the Post home. Any parent wishing to attend these meetings will be welcome.

Athletic Director Thomas Adams presided, with assistance of George Ellis, Edward and Lewis McNichole, Frank Wallace and E. Sassoch. On March 20th, the boys club will sponsor a social night at the Post home. This affair is open to the public. There will be cards and other forms of entertainment, admission being free.

SUNDAY DINNER Suggestions

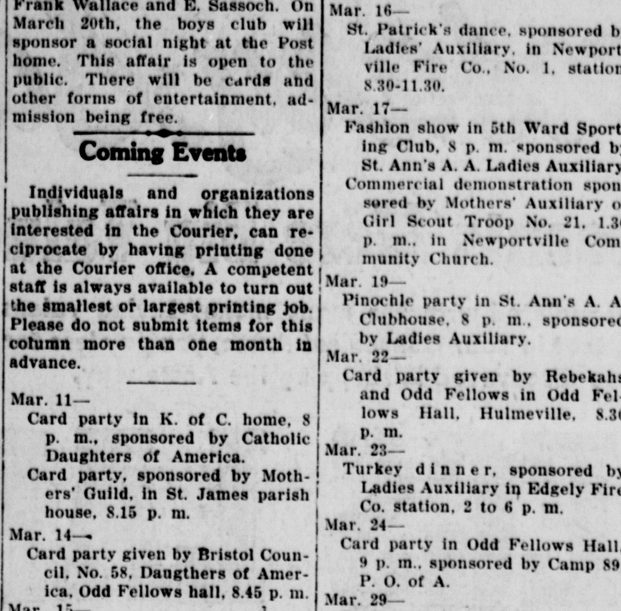

MEATLESS meals come into their own during the Lenten season. And thanks to such protein providers as cheese, eggs and fish, there's no sacrifice in good, nutritious eating. All three of these versatile foods go together well in this tuna loaf recommended by the A & P Service for Homemakers.

Melt two tablespoons of butter or margarine in a saucepan over low heat. Add two tablespoons flour, one teaspoon salt and one-fourth teaspoon pepper and mix well. Add one cup milk gradually and cook, stirring constantly, until sauce becomes thick, smooth and shiny. Empty contents of one seven-ounce can tuna fish into bowl and flake with a fork. Add one tablespoon lemon juice, one and one-half cups soft bread crumbs, one-half cup finely chopped celery, one-fourth cup chopped pimiento, two tablespoons finely chopped onion and one egg, slightly beaten. Stir white sauce into fish mixture and place in well greased loaf pan. Bake in moderate oven (350 degrees F.) until brown and set, about 45 minutes. Makes six servings.

Serve with a tangy topping supplied by this cheese sauce version: Melt two tablespoons butter or margarine over low heat. Add two tablespoons flour, one-half teaspoon salt and one-eighth teaspoon pepper and blend well. Gradually add one cup milk and cook, stirring constantly until sauce thickens. Stir in one-third cup grated American cheese and one-eighth teaspoon cayenne pepper. Continue cooking at low temperature until cheese melts. Yield, one cup of sauce.

Swiss Steak in Full Dress

Most of us like familiar foods dressed up a bit for a special treat. For instance, you can give the family's favorite Swiss steak a gala touch this easy way: Pound flour into a chuck or round steak with the edge of a saucer or meat pounder. Then brown thoroughly in a little hot fat. Season with salt and pepper and a dash of garlic salt. Add one cup of tomato juice, cover, and cook over low heat until tender, about two hours. Half an hour before the end of the cooking time, top the meat with a few onion slices. Sprinkle with salt. In a separate pan, brown in butter or margerine some sliced fresh or canned mushrooms. Remove the steak from the pan and carve it into individual servings in the kitchen. To serve, top each piece of meat with a few slices of onion and some of the hot, fried mushrooms.

The first oil pipe line was of wood construction, five miles long, and had a capacity of 800 barrels daily.

Play, Written by A Club Member Will Be Staged

A play entitled "Bread," written by Mrs. George E. Boswell, will be featured at a meeting of The Travel Club in the club home, tomorrow afternoon. Mrs. Boswell is chairman of the division of religion, under the American home department. This department's committee, headed by Mrs. Ernest Lawrence, Jr., will provide an exhibit of illustrative materials covering several phases of home-making.

Several non-members will participate in the program of the day. Mrs. Ralph Hart will provide vocal numbers, her accompanist being Mrs. Homer Hobbs. Three Bristol high school girls, under direction of Arthur Hornberger, of Bristol high school faculty, will present musical numbers. These youthful musicians are: MayBeth Brown, flutist; Janet Wetherill, clarinetist; Miss Eleanor Scheetz, pianist.

Hostesses for the day are Mrs. Harry T. Neher and Mrs. H. Wesley Spencer.

What is Love? (Read I Corinthians 13)

Here the Apostle Paul does not attempt to make a clear-cut, one sentence definition of Love. He chooses to define Love in a series of phrases descriptive of its action. Love is patient; not envious; not boastful or proud; even Tempered; given to give the benefit of the doubt; happy at doing good, not wrong; takes unkindness from people gracefully and graciously; trusts; and hangs on couragiously when life gets hard.

The life of love holds within itself all that we admire in others and for ourselves seek. If you want it, you may have it by praying to God and following His Guidance.

Named Member of Jersey Cattle Club

Ralph O. Samuel, Ivyland, has been named a member of The American Jersey Cattle Club. He is a local breeder of registered Jersey cattle.

The recent application of Samuel for membership was approved by the Club's Board of Directors at their last meeting. Requirements for membership specify that an applicant must be an owner of Jersey cattle and be a careful and reliable breeder. His application was endorsed by at least five members of the Club. His membership gives him the privilege of voting in the organization's affairs. He is also entitled to special membership fees when transacting business with it.

The American Jersey Cattle Club is America's oldest dairy breed registry organization. It was organized in 1868 and ever since has preserved the records and improved and promoted the Jersey breed. Its national headquarters is in Columbus, Ohio.

Morrisville Requests More Money for Service

LOWER MAKEFIELD, Mar. 6 — Last evening when Lower Makefield township supervisors met, representatives of Morrisville Borough Council asked the supervisors to increase appropriations for fire protection by $500.

Councilman Neal Nolan told the Makefield officials that Morrisville, which supplies the protection, needed new equipment and wanted Makefield to increase the appropriation from $500 to $1000. Lower Makefield maintains no fire-fighting equipment.

Harry S. Hoffman, Makefield secretary, said the supervisors would consider the request. The supervisors also agreed to consider an offer by William Black, of Yardley, to rent a building to the township for storage space and offices.

RECIPES

POPULAR PORK SAUSAGE STARS IN TASTY DISHES

Pork sausage is everyone's friend. It gets around to breakfast, lunch and dinner and the whole family's always glad to see it coming.

A good marketing tip is to include pork sausage links or patties regularly on your shopping list. As these items are perishable, they should be bought in amounts suitable for your family's needs, then used promptly within a few days.

It's always fun to find a new way to serve an old favorite. Here's a recipe for a novel sausage pie, open-face style, which is a crackerjack for dinner or for a special Sunday night supper.

Sausage Open-Face Pie

Crust
1 cup sifted flour
1½ teaspoons baking powder
½ teaspoon salt
3 tablespoons lard
⅓ cup milk

Filling
¾ pound pork sausage links
1 No. 2 can tomatoes
½ clove garlic
¼ teaspoon basil or thyme
1 cup grated cheese

To make crust, sift baking powder and salt with flour. Cut in lard until mixture resembles corn meal; add milk. Knead dough lightly, then roll out on a lightly floured board to a diameter of 10 inches. Place in a 9-inch pie pan, crimping edges.

Cook sausage links until well browned. Add minced garlic and herbs to well drained tomatoes (save tomato juice for soup or gelatin salad). Spread tomatoes in crust, sprink'e with cheese and top with sausage links arranged spoke fashion. Bake at 450 degrees F. for about 15 minutes. Let stand 15 minutes before cutting. 4 to 5 servings.

Basic Pork Sausage Cookery

An important factor in preparing pork sausage links is to cook them thoroughly without losing their fine-flavored juices. Do not prick the skins before cooking. To insure thorough cooking, add ¼ cup of water to the links in a cold skillet. Cover, heat and let the sausage steam 5 to 6 minutes to cook through. Then uncover, pour off the liquid and brown slowly.

Sausage Links for a Crowd

A handy way to cook a quantity of sausage links for a large family or a party is to bake them. Place links in a pan without a rack. This allows the sausage to brown in the fat. Bake at 400 degrees F. 20 to 25 minutes for regular size links. Turn to brown the links evenly.

Bulk pork sausage makes a good spaghetti sauce — an interesting change from the usual sauce made with ground beef:

Sausage-Spaghetti Sauce
1 pound bulk pork sausage
1 4-oz. can mushrooms
½ clove garlic, minced
1 medium onion, chopped
Flour, salt, pepper
3 cups tomato juice
1 tablespoon Worcestershire sauce
7 or 8 ounces spaghetti

Crumble and brown pork sausage in skillet. Push to one side and remove all but 2 tablespoons fat from skillet. In this brown mushrooms; add onion and garlic. Blend in 3 tablespoons flour, add tomato juice and cook until thick. Add Worcestershire sauce, ¾ teaspoon salt and ⅛ teaspoon pepper. Simmer half an hour. In the meantime, cook spaghetti in 3 quarts boiling salted water. When tender, drain, and serve topped with the meat sauce.

An attractive beret is Movie Star Nancy Olsen's choice for casual wear. The style gives length to her slightly round face.

By HELEN FOLLETT

HAIRDO and hat! Watch out for that combination if you would march in the style and beauty parade. It has much to do with enhancing the features or throwing them out of form. It may be that a woman cannot do much to improve her figure after a certain age, but she can make her top-story chic and attractive.

There are certain hairdos for certain faces. The girl with the low forehead should not wear bangs, but sweep her tresses upward. The center parting increases the width of a full face. Hair curved over the ears lessens facial width. A large, loose, flowing hairdo makes the small face look smaller.

Medium Brim

The round faced woman usually looks her prettiest in hats with medium-sized brims. The shorty should not wear wide brims, because they seem to detract from height. The tall woman can wear such hats with becomingness and style.

Simplicity is the chief characteristic of smart millinery. Too much fluff and feathers direct the eye "right there" away from the wearer's face. A woman should be more interesting than any detail of her attire.

Flaring Hat

The upward, flaring hat, so popular now, should never be worn by a woman who has a receding chin because it will give accent to this defect. The rule holds good for the girl whose nose is larger than it should be according to beauty Hoyle.

A tiny hat on a woman who has acquired too much weight blots her out of the loveliness picture. By avoiding tabloid lids she avoids the silhouette that tapers upward to an inadequate little bonnet.

The large floppy hat is designed for the youthful face. For the woman whose pulchritude petals have fallen it is a mistake. It calls attention to the marks of Time's cruel fingers. If some women didn't try to look so young, they would not look so old.

When selecting a hat, don't hurry. Regard it from all angles. Unless it flatters you, pass it by and continue on the shopping rounds.

KNOW YOUR STATE

Prepared for The Courier by the State Planning Board, Department of Commerce.

Speed On Our Highways

One principal cause of America's high record of deaths from traffic accidents is the fact that few drivers are aware of what a velocity of 50 miles an hour means in destructive force. People crowd into a circus tent to be thrilled by the performance of a tight-rope walker or an acrobat whose feats are performed at perhaps 75 feet above the level of the ground. Few people, however, appreciate the fact that a man or woman driving a car along the highway at the legal speed of 50 miles an hour is moving at a velocity which is equivalent to a free fall of 83 feet. Even more disturbing is the fact that the collision of two cars, each moving at a rate of 50 miles an hour in opposite directions, releases a force equivalent to that which the drivers would experience if their cars went over the edge of a cliff and fell 330 feet. It is no wonder, therefore, that cars which have been in collisions sometimes show such appalling effects of the forces which have been released by their momentum. That people sometimes survive such impacts is, of course, due to the fact that the collision does not occur instantly; the shell or frame of a car absorbs part of the force of the collision and allows a fraction of a second for the motion to be checked, much as happens when a man falls off a cliff into the top of a tree, or out of a window into a load of cardboard boxes. One cannot however, normally anticipate such good luck.

People who would, under no conceivable circumstance, walk out on a narrow plank over the edge of a 300-foot precipice, or crawl out on the ledge of a building that far above the street level, often drive with great nonchalance past opposing traffic where the margin of safety between their car and others moving in an opposite direction, or between their fender and obstructions along the highway is often less than a foot of clearance.

However startling these figures may appear, they become relatively insignificant, the State Planning Board of the Department of Commerce points out, when one considers the effect of a collision at 70 miles an hour. Hitting a solid object at 70 miles an hour is equivalent to the effect of a fall of 160 feet. The collision of two cars moving in opposite directions at 70 miles an hour is equivalent to a fall from the roof of a 50-story building—a distance of one-eighth of a mile. A little consideration of these facts, based on the laws of motion might convince some of our drivers that the deceptive ease with which a car can accelerate to 50 or 70 miles an hour conceals a very grave danger which is not any less because of the fact that motorists have become accustomed to driving at high speed.

Temperature Shows Rise Over February of 1951

A comparison of weather conditions for the month of February, 1951, with those of last month, show a rise of 2.9 degrees in the average temperature for the month. Precipitation last month was less than half of that for the same month last year.

The average temperature last month was 38.9, while that for February a year ago was 36. Precipitation during the one month a year ago was 4.59 inches, and for last month 2.04 inches.

The temperature range last month was 18 to 56. There were 12 clear days; 10, partly cloudy; seven, cloudy; and seven on which precipitation measured .01 or more.

EXPECT 2 CLOSE GAMES TONIGHT ON GOODWILL FLOOR

Two close games are expected in the Bristol Basketball League tonight on the Goodwill Hose Company court. In the first tilt, the Hibernians will play Lucisano Brothers, of Tullytown, starting at 7.30 o'clock. In the second encounter, Rohm & Haas meets Fifth Ward Sporting Club.

The Hibernians and Rohm & Haas are one-half game out of first place and need triumphs to deadlock the Cornwells Boys Club for the topnotch position.

Lucisano can assure itself of a tie for third place with a victory over Peter Harkins' team. The Tullytown lads are in fourth position with a 6 and 5 record.

Fifth Ward is one-half game behind the Profy team which is in fifth place. The latter position is the final playoff spot so the Warders will be seeking to tie for that position with a triumph over the Rohm & Haas team.

HIGH SCHOOL ENDS SEASON WITH VICTORY

Bristol High closed its regular season last night with a 54-51 win over the Pennsylvania School for Deaf on the local court. The Warriors will play Central Bucks (Doylestown) Saturday night at Norristown in a Class A P. I. A. A. tournament game.

A last quarter rally gave the Warriors the triumph over the Mt. Airy boys. Bristol took a 20-11 lead in the first quarter but in the second period, Coach Ben Watson used his reserves and PSD scored 16 points while holding the localites to 3. PSD had the half-time lead at 27-23.

At the start of the third quarter, the five starting players were back in action but PSD was still clicking and managed to hold on to the lead until midway in the final quarter. Bristol was trailing by two points, 46-44, when Raul Stevens missed a set shot but Harold Loud followed the shot and dumped in a fielder to knot the count.

Andy Accardi scored under the net to give Bristol the lead and Bob Strobele converted a foul to increase the edge to three points. Lou Parrish cut it to one with a PSD score but Strobele and Accardi followed with double-deckers to clinch the tilt for the Warriors.

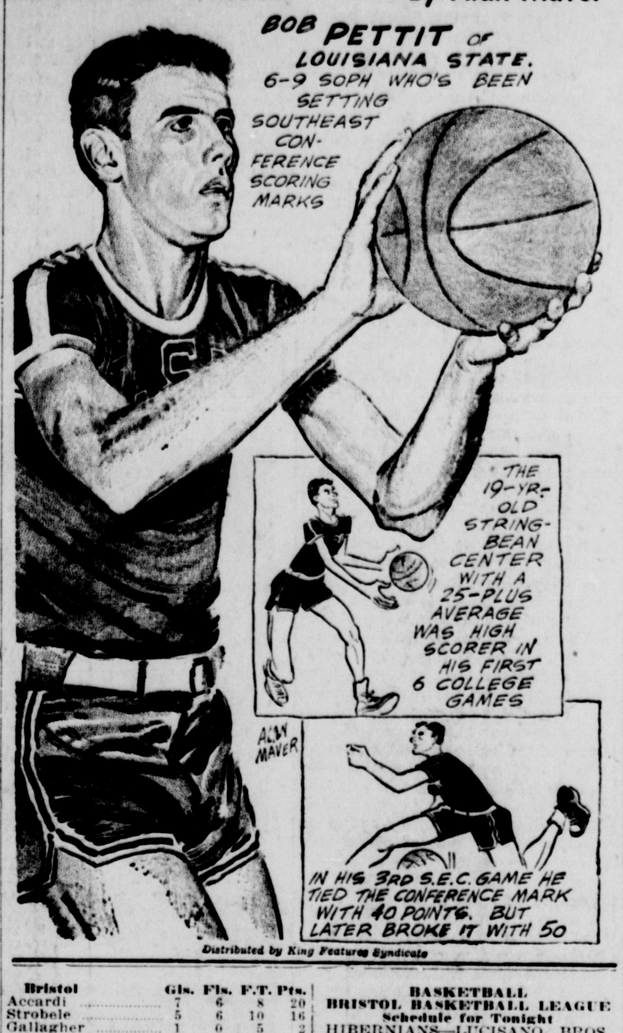

Accardi and Strobele paced the local scorers with 20 and 16 points, respectively. For the losing team, Andriano Mariri and Parrish had 13 points each.

The Bristol Junior Varsity team had an easy time in racking up a 63-29 victory over the PSD Jayvees. The Bristol boys had the edge from the start.

Dick Crosby was high for Coach Ben Watson's team with Emig scoring 8 points for the PSD lads.

Woman Lawyer Loses Own Case

presided at the trial which began Monday, refused to allow the jury to compute the interest at compound rates and fixed it at $85. The compounded interest was fixed at $100, which made the original verdict $300.

A jury, which deliberated until 6.15 Monday evening, returned a verdict of $336.40 in favor of the plaintiff, William J. Weaver, Sand Brook, N J., who was suing Cline Kissell, Neshaminy, for that amount of damages, following a two-car collision Oct. 23, 1950, at Bristol road and Route 202, Chalfont.

President Judge Hiram H. Keller allowed an assessment of damages for $597.78 in favor of the plaintiff, George W. Kropf, 79 West Oakland ave., this place, and against the defendant, Stanley Newkirk, Newtown, RD 1, who had made no appearance in the case until he walked into court yesterday.

When the trial began, President Judge directed Court Crier Clarence K. Danenhower to summon the defendant three times which he did. The defendant, answering the verbal summons, appeared but could give no satisfactory reason for not answering any letters written to him or obtaining any lawyer to represent him or his case.

Counsel for the plaintiff, C. B. Ermentrout, informed the Court that judgment had been entered against the defendant and the case continued for assessment of damages. The $597.78 damage claim grew out of a two-car collision Sept. 19, 1950, in Langhorne.

The jury, which did not leave the jury box, was composed of the following: Beatrice D. Nyce, Telford, forewoman; Harold P. Kling, Croydon; John C. Beidler, Quakertown; Samuel Faunce, Andalusia; Emma M. Fly, Chalfont; Samuel S. Daugherty, Newtown; Ralph G. Kennedy, Bristol; Thomas J. Emsley, Morrisville; Daniel Coll, Sellersville; Marian Strouse, Quakertown; James W. Orr, Perkasie, and Dorothy F. Damrosch, Doylestown.

President Judge Keller is presiding at the trial of William F. Sweigart, of the Bux-Mont Neon Sign Company, who is suing Joseph Elnitski, of the Warington Diner and Motor Court, Neshaminy. The defendant has filed a counter-claim, involving four transformers.

The trial grows out of the erection of a double-faced neon sign during October, 1950, at the defendant's business place.

The jury contains William G. Taylor, Upper Black Eddy, foreman Victor L. Lennon, Churchville; Harry R. Paulsworth, Croydon; Roy C. Munsell, Eureka; Aaron L. Swartz, Telford; Donald S. Saurman, Newtown; Anna H. Shivo, Ottsville; Raymond O. Jackson, Bristol; Antonette M. Cianfaro, Bristol; Ben Haskey, Jr., Chalfont, RD; Harry Muelhausen, Yardley, and William A. McAuley, Yardley.

Judge Satterthwaite is presiding at the trial of Harriet N. Rogers, Wilmington, Del., versus William H. States, Jr., Croydon, growing out of an action in assumpsit.

The jury is comprised of Robert S. Miller, Sellersville, RD; William E. Kiesele, Quakertown; Abram Lewis, Lacey Park; Marian A. Taylor, Newtown; Charles W. Bilger, Croydon, RD; June H. Heaton, Lacey Park; Emily M. Clymer, Quakertown, RD; Abraham M. Nyce, Telford, RD; Sarah B. Ott, Croydon, RD; John Bayman, Langhorne, RD 3; Florence Lapham, Lacey Park, and George E. Waldeman, Feasterville.

A panel of 20 jurors was chosen to report this morning for the trial of Winfield J. Scott, Jr., versus Eva C. Gross, growing out of an action in tresspass.

President Judge Keller excused the rest of the panel because the cases are either continued or settled.

Sportsmanlike DRIVING

WALK RIGHT AND LIVE

The non-driver has a bad pedestrian record!

Nine out of ten adult pedestrians killed in motor accidents do not drive automobiles. They don't know what cars and drivers cannot do. So they step right out into danger.

Non-drivers do not know how far an automobile goes before it can possibly be stopped—even at moderate speeds, says the AAA driver training book, "Sportsmanlike Driving." They do not realize that it takes time to change the direction of a car. They do not know how many different things tease the driver's attention.

Connecticut made a study of 1,031 traffic deaths of pedestrians over 15 years of age and found that 95% had never been licensed to drive.

If you do not drive a car, be extra-careful how you walk. Look in both directions before you step off the curb. Do not jaywalk. Obey all traffic regulations. Safe walking requires sportsmanship of both driver and pedestrian. Walk right and live!

U. S. Steel Withdraws Hospital Plans

survey indicates the need for a 500-bed hospital here. This area is in a defense zone created under Public Law No. 139. It is reported should an appropriation for necessary health facilities be granted by Congress, The Lower Bucks County Hospital is in favored position to receive funds for additional beds to those for which plans are now being prepared. It is possible that the entire expansion cost to the 500-bed unit could be absorbed by the Government. This possibility is being very closely watched and in constant close touch by those properly authorized within the hospital organization.

"Application of the United States Steel Company for a 50-bed hospital at the Fairless Plant has been withdrawn. The Lower Bucks County Hospital application has been made and at the Two Million dollar figure. Concerning the $346,015 additional needed for the expansion called for in the new plans, it is pointed out that 40% would again be covered by the Hill-Burton Act. $207,609 would have to be subscribed locally.

"The decision to proceed was based upon the following factors (not necessarily listed in their order of importance): (1) Area industry has not as yet attained a 100% participation in the project. (2) Residential-business community coverage, due to circumstances prevailing at that time, was approximately only 60% effective. (3) The high percentage of pledges being paid. (4) Organized Labor's willingness to solicit new employees coming into the area-grant continued payroll deduction for the hospital fund for new employees. (5) Interest indicated by many of those not as yet officially contacted by authorized hospital workers. Other factors were considered plus the fact that we now know we are going to have our hospital here—the only question is that of size.

"In the Treasurer's report at the Board of Directors meeting February 7, total cash received to that date was $393,380.17, expenditures to that date were $108,524.17. Treasurer, Mr. Harold F. Hunter, reported that in the final account as rendered by the firm of Hogan, Winters & Company they included the sum of $32,000 which had been donated by an anonymous giver, same to be used for the services of Hogan, Winters & Company as their fee; therefore, the original totals are $32,000 less. To offset this discrepancy, there have been additional subscriptions of over $37,000 since Hogan, Winters & Company closed their books.

"Hospital President, James E. Harris, expressed the viewpoint that 'We are now entering the preliminary stages of working out details and groundwork for our hospital. More and more time and effort is going to be demanded of all those responsible and also those concerned with the success of our project. We all have come far since the inception of the hospital idea was first broached and I am certain all of us will redouble our efforts, if necessary, to successfully reach our common goal.'"

Truman Asks For 7.9 Billion Dollars

ception. Some economy-minded and election-year conscious legislators have served notice that it is due for careful scrutiny.

Without mentioning names, the President took occasion to jibe at the military policies advocated by former President Herbert Hoover and Sen. Taft (R) Ohio.

He said that "Some people would have us withdraw to our own shores and gamble our national safety on air and naval power."

Such a course, he asserted, would be "a mandate for national suicide." He added:

"The problems of American survival would be multiplied to an incalculable extent if we had to face the Soviet threat without the support and assistance of other nations."

Counseling against what he called "false" economy, Mr. Truman declared:

"It would be foolish and dangerous to withhold a dollar now at the risk of expending, not just many times as many dollars, but human lives as well, a few years later."

Of the total appropriation, Western Europe would receive 90 per cent. This includes: Military aid, $4,070,000,000, economic, $1,819,000,000. Other areas are:

Near East and Africa—Military, $606,000,000, economic, $196,000,000; Asia and the Pacific — Military, $611,000,000, economic, $408,000,000; American republics—Military, $62,000,000, economic, $22,000,000.

Mr. Truman summarized his arguments in what he described as these "four propositions":

"First, the plain fact is that we cannot achieve lasting security for ourselves except in association with other nations.

"Second, the funds provided by the U. S. under the . . . program are essential to the success of the common efforts we are making with other free nations for peace.

"Third, the funds invested by the U. S. will yield far larger returns, in terms of our own security, than if the same amount were used for our own defense establishment.

"Fourth, the cost of the . . . program, together with much larger costs of our military services and other defense measures, are well within our economic capacity."

Tax Problems of Small Business Man Are Many

also makes out his tax forms, but, complains Tucker:

"Small businessmen don't know how to judge what their taxes will be. Then, every time the sun comes out, Congress increases taxes and the most we can do is hope we have the money when the time comes to pay up."

A one-time city councilman in the suburban town of East Point, Ga., Tucker has had first-hand experience with government costs and the need for taxes. He explains:

"I don't mind paying income taxes—if everybody would pay his share."

Mrs. Tucker is more severe. Tossing her brown hair, her blue eyes indignant, she exclaimed:

"Taxes! Taxes have wrecked our budget. We like steaks and hams, but there is little of them around our home—because taxes went up."

Nodding in confirmation, Tucker said:

"In 1951, my income tax increased 10 to 15 per cent over the previous year. This March, when I file my estimate of 1952 earnings, I expect another big hike."

Tucker preferred not to go into details on his tax payments, exact income, deductions and the like. But the Tuckers figure that they spend about 45 per cent of their above-taxes income on food, 20 per cent on clothes, 15 per cent on their home, and 5 per cent for entertainment. They try to save 15 per cent of their yearly income for a "nest egg."

The "nest egg" gets a little scrambled during the winter months, which are bad for the real estate business, but swells up starting about April 1, when business gets better. Just the same, Tucker says, his family has been so hit by the rising cost of living that it must "do without a lot of things we can no longer afford."

Then there's the future of 10-year-old Eleanor Rose to consider. Tucker doesn't think $600 a year is really a sufficient exemption for her.

Meanwhile, the Tuckers manage pretty well. Mrs. Tucker has a maid in three times a week—household labor is comparatively cheap in the south—but she does all the cooking herself and helps out a good deal in the business. She writes ads in verse and draws advertising cartoons.

A spirited amateur interior decorator, she worked out herself the decor of the two-story, red-brick home the Tuckers began buying 10 years ago.

Week nights, the 38-year-old Tucker is usually busy with one of his lodges—the Elks, Moose or Masons. Mrs. Tucker is active in the PTA of the school in which Eleanor Rose is a fifth grader. And he likes to get out in the backyard once in a while for an old-fashioned barbecue.

In addition, the Tuckers are active in civic and community work, and in the Jefferson Baptist church, which B. N. has served as Sunday school president.

Tucker doesn't get in as much sport as he would like to, but in January he managed to take his family to Miami to see the Orange Bowl game.

He has some pretty specific ideas on how the tax burden could be eased to help the small businessman.

First, he believes that the small entrepreneur earning less than some amount to be fixed after careful study should be given a flat $1,000-a-year exception to enable him to get along, and to grow.

Then, he believes that the declaration of expected income and installment tax payment, with its attendant headaches of paperwork and raising money during slack seasons, should be abolished. Instead, he feels the small businessman, like the salaried worker, should be allowed to settle his income tax in a lump sum on March 15.

Most of all, Tucker would like to see the income tax dispensed with entirely for those earning less than $15,000 a year and a whopping big sales tax substituted.

He figures that a 10 per cent federal sales tax and a five percent states sales tax "on everything, even medicine and food," would mean that everyone contributed to the national treasury.

He says:

"That way the government would make more money because it would collect taxes from those who never paid before. It would help the taxpayers, too, because as it is now, many persons pay more than 15 per cent in taxes."

PORK LEFTOVER SPECIAL

Those tag ends of pork from a loin roast or shoulder cut fit perfectly into a dish such as this:

Pork and Vegetable Casserole

2 cups diced or ground leftover pork
2 tablespoons fat
½ cup sliced celery
1/3 cup chopped onion
1½ cups mixed cooked vegetables (frozen or canned)
White sauce or gravy
Salt, pepper
2 teaspoons Worcestershire sauce
¾ cup buttered bread or cracker crumbs

Melt fat and in it cook celery and onion until soft. Add meat and vegetables and enough white sauce or gravy to moisten well. Add Worcestershire sauce and salt and pepper to suit taste. Pour into a greased 1½ quart casserole, top with buttered crumbs and bake at 350 degrees F. for 30 minutes. 4 servings.

Housework Easy Without Nagging Backache

Nagging backache, loss of pep and energy, headaches and dizziness may be due to slow-down of kidney function. Doctors say good kidney function is very important to good health. When some everyday condition, such as stress and strain, causes this important function to slow down, many folks suffer nagging backache—feel miserable. Minor bladder irritations due to cold or wrong diet may cause getting up nights or frequent passages.

Don't neglect your kidneys if these conditions bother you. Try Doan's Pills—a mild diuretic. Used successfully by millions for over 50 years. It's amazing how many times Doan's give happy relief from these discomforts—help the 15 miles of kidney tubes and filters flush out waste. Get Doan's Pills today!

The Trouble With Truman.

has ruled he has enjoyed more power and had more money to spend than any other figure in all history, then it seems inescapable that there must be something the matter with Mr. Truman and his policies.

Greatest weakness in President Truman is his impetuosity—his "off the cuff" approach not merely to trivial personal affairs, but to matters of the supremest importance to world destiny.

Again and again decisions of monumental significance have been reached on the spur of the moment, and the full weight of national executive power and propaganda thereafter [illegible]d, not to the search for a wise decision which should have been the case, but to whitewashing and rationalizing a course determined upon in ignorance and impetuosity.

Instances are so numerous as to defy listing. One occurred within a matter of minutes from the moment when Mr. Truman took the oath of office—his decision to go ahead with the San Francisco conference when he knew next to nothing about the tragically long list of secret deals with Stalin, and as a matter of fact, according to best information, probably didn't even know about the atomic bomb.

Run carefully back over Mr. Truman's record, and you will discover that he "backed into", so to speak, virtually all the major decisions of his administration. He decided, in the fall of 1945, that it should be possible to raise wages and freeze prices simultaneously—the decision which forever committed him to inflation as a basic policy. He set up his own labor policy, apparently on the spur of the moment and certainly without consulting the leadership of his party. The general program of trying to "confine" Russian Communism, which produced first the Greek program and thereafter the so-called Marshall Plan, was at every stage, it appears, a series of snap-judgments, quite as unexpected, even to his closest associates, as such more recent decisions as sending back into Korea the soldiers his State Department had been withdrawing, and his recalling of General MacArthur.

Mr. Truman has a tempermental characteristic in this respect which actually is probably the most dangerous single factor in all the many elements which will determine the failure or success of our experiment in self-government. For the American nation to be in the hands of a ruler, armed with vast power and influence, whose mental processes appear to be as lacking in predirection and logic as the flip of a coin—that's like giving a baby a loaded gun as a toy!

The specific fields of conduct and policy where this rashness—and brashness—of Mr. Truman has led us deep into trouble would be a very long list indeed. We are far along in inflation as a deliberately supported administrative policy. Cronies and other political-gang figures still less reputable are in charge of much of the public's business and resources, selling favors and rifling the till. Our Constitutional government is on the rocks, with the judicial branch on a sit-down strike against the public, and Congress unable to unite and use its intended powers as the people's most direct agency.

Buying votes with "giveaways", which are financed in part by destructively heavy taxes, but mainly by borrowing against the earnings of future generations still unborn, has become a basic program of self-perpetuating the political machine now holding power.

Efforts to drag this nation into Socialism through the back door, or to plunge it unawares into some new and half-baked form of "super-government" in which the American constitution would disappear and the American people become pawns of greedy fractions wholly outside our own border—these continue to be made with the knowledge, and presumably the help, of Mr. Truman.

We are, in fact, one jump ahead of World War III, a half-step away from national bankruptcy, a whisker off from losing all our Constitutional freedom, and notoriously the victims of confidence men and pilferers in our national government—and if Mr. Truman's not to blame, then who in the world has been President and almost autocratically supreme over our affairs for the past seven years?

And what prospect does the Republican party have of being taken seriously by a public which is at least dimly aware of all this, if the party and its candidate undertake to campaign once again pretending that "all's right with Uncle Sam!"

JEEPS PILE UP AS LONGSHOREMEN GO ON STRIKE

A FAST-SPREADING STRIKE of some 2,000 longshoremen has halted activity on all piers in Jersey City, N. J. A long line of jeeps is pictured above waiting to be loaded at a dock leased by the Army. (International)

SETTING OF A GOOD EXAMPLE FOR KIDDIES EXCELLENT TEACHING

By Frances Vannoy
(Home Economics Extension Representative)

Children are like their parents because of inheritance. Yet this factor does not account for many of the similarities between parents and their children.

Children imitate their parents in many ways, such as speech, handling their bodies, likes and dislikes, attitudes and values. Parents frequently are reminded to set an example for their children. One father was reminded of this when he saw his young son stretching his steps trying to place his feet in the prints his father had left in the snow as he walked to the barn. He thought, "If my son tries to imitate me in this way, may he not also imitate me in other things I do."

He began to take mental inventory of the things he did that he would not want to see his son do.

Sometimes parents get discouraged and think that it's useless to set a good example. Usually with close examination a parent will discover how really important the example he has set has been. In the long run, setting a good example pays even though there may seem to be little in present child action to encourage parents.

Studies made in parent-child relationships bear out the importance of parents being well adjusted, happy individuals themselves with a growing interest and participation in the world about them. This is a special warning to mothers who are often likely to limit their interests and activities to their homes and children. Family life specialists say that mothers owe it to themselves and their families to keep up their outside interests without neglecting their children.

RECRUITS

CHATTANOOGA, Tenn.—(INS)—Tennessee Valley Authority personnel officers are visiting Southern universities to recruit some of thousand engineers needed in the TVA construction program. The program includes new hydro plants at Boone and Fort Patrick Henry dams in East Tennessee and five steam plants in Alabama, Kentucky and Tennessee.

RECIPES

Frankfurter Pie

1 pound frankfurters, sliced ½ inch thick
1 onion, chopped
¼ cup chopped green pepper
½ cup chopped celery
3 tablespoons butter or margerine
2¼ tablespoons enriched flour
1¼ cups milk
1 tablespoon Worcestershire sauce
1 teaspoon salt
⅛ teaspoon pepper
1½ cups mashed potatoes

Brown frankfurters, onion, green pepper and celery in butter or margerine. Blend in flour. Add milk and cook, stirring constantly until thickened. Add Worcestershire sauce and seasonings. Pour into a greased 8-inch casserole and top with mashed potatoes. Bake in a moderate oven (350 degrees F.) for 30 minutes. 6 servings.

George School

NEWTOWN, Mar. 5 — Naming of Eleanor K. Hess, director of girls athletics at George School, as faculty sponsor recently brought to completion school plans to send overseas another student work camp group, the fourth in the five-year-old affiliation program with two schools in Germany.

Rounding out the complement of the tri-national work camp contingent for George School are: Wilhelmina Braddock, senior, from Waynesville, O.; Judith Weigand, junior, Schenectady, N. Y.; Sheridan Johns, junior, Morrisville; and Peter Zavitz, junior, Chevy Chase, Md. Joining these representatives from Bucks County Friends School will be groups from Germantown Friends School and its affiliate at Falaise, France, as well as groups from George School's affiliates in Dusseldorf and Berlin, Germany.

As yet the exact site and nature of the work remain to be decided. The past two summers the work campers built a reservoir and a building, and aided in other ways at a refugee camp for the very old and young near Dorlar, Germany. The 1952 work campers will sail in June, return in September.

Miss Hess is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frederick G. Hess, Llanerch, and is completing her fifth year in the girls physical education department at George School. She holds both bachelor's and master's degrees from the University of Pennsylvania, Phila.

SNOB ANTIDOTE

BRIGHTON, Eng.—(INS)—Physical training is one of the greatest antidotes for snobbery. So claims Mrs. Ida Mayne, an 87-year-old grandmother of Brighton, who started attending physical training classes 17 years ago, and now claims to be the oldest physical training enthusiast in Britain.

"WASHINGTON REPORT"

By FULTON LEWIS, JR.

(Copyright, 1952, King Features Syndicate, Inc.)

WASHINGTON, Mar. 6 — Wayne Coy, who resigned recently as head of the Federal Communications Commission is the latest to state that the reason he did so is that he is trotting around in rags, underpaid and unappreciated.

President Truman, who has also made his living off us taxpayers for the past 20 years, chimed in with a loud "yea" as he always does when one of the downtrodden bureaucrats sings this refrain.

Coy's salary was $15,000 annually, plus the usual 26-day vacation and sick leave prerogatives of all federal employees. He also could accumulate the $9 a day travel pay and was provided with free transportation whenever he went on official trips, which was often. As near as I can determine it is the most money he has ever made in his life. Prior to his job as chairman of the FCC, Coy served as a special assistant to Franklin D. Roosevelt, was an assistant director of the budget and held several other government jobs prior to and during World War Two, after having started his business career as a newspaperman.

Just as in the case of most bureaucrats, however, what Coy was paid as a government official will be small change compared to what he will earn in private business as a former FCC chairman. And he won't be given it because of what he knew before he went to work for us taxpayers, but for what he learned and the people he met while working for us.

The roster of former government officials who "sacrificed" their personal fortunes to work for the government, only to cash in later because they knew their way around administration circles, is long and growing longer daily. In fact, a number have acquired small fortunes simply because they had the brains to remember the White House telephone number.

Mr. Truman bid Coy farewell with this remark:

"Yours is the ironic story of so many key civil servants whose abilities and special skills must be lost to the government because of the inadequacy of government salaries."

I do not question Coy's capabilities. But he acquired a lot of them while attached to the government payroll. And he is leaving now, at 48 years of age, with lots of years left to earn fat fees representing various organizations before government agencies. So it would seem he should have the decency to admit that his government service has aided and abetted his career, instead of slouching out the side door with the complaint that he didn't make enough to keep his children in the fancy schools to which they apparently have become accustomed.

How many people do you know who keep two children comfortably on far less than $15,000 a year? Coy says he has one child in college and one in Prep school and it costs him a lot of money. Nobody will argue that, but he ought to be able to do it on $15,000 a year.

The facts are that government salaries are higher than at any time in history, and in some cases surpass those paid in private industry. Naturally, few government officials outside of the President earn salaries comparable to those paid top-flight industrial managers and executives, but we are talking about the wage earner below that level, be he in government or private employment.

Few wage earners in private industry get 26-day vacations, and are permitted to take some three weeks or so of sick leave, with pay, each year. Fewer yet get time off for parades and all official and unofficial holidays, as federal workers do. Besides, there is a standard practice in Washington of loading the payroll with "standby" employees whose only job is to sit and wait until there is some work for them to do. Civil Service likewise allows a constant upgrading of employees, who perform the same work but get more money each year in addition to the substantial pay hikes voted frequently by Congress.

And there is one more gimmick which I know most of us don't enjoy. After serving a certain number of years on the federal payroll employees are entitled to retirement. In most cases the employees are placed in higher grades just before retirement so they can draw a bigger pension check. This is carried to the extreme, wherein the wife of a White House aide, who is privately well off, is promoted to a fictitious job calling for more salary just before she retires.

It goes on all the time. So does Mr. Truman's phony chant that federal salaries are dirt cheap. The truth is that most of them never had it so good, and the President knows it.
